LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 27TH DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

GROSVENOR,
versus
HOOPER.

This is an opposition action to the sale of lot 89, section A, Queenstown, Essequibo, without reserving a certain least of a portion of this land to the plaintiff. The existence of a lease is admitted and the sole point is as to the term thereof.

The lease is shown to have been lost and there is evidence of a diligent search having been made in the place where it ought to have been. Secondary evidence has been admitted as to its contents and the Court is satisfied that it was for a term of ten years.

The opposition is held to be just, legal and well-founded and the defendant is restrained from selling at execution as advertised.

Judgment for plaintiff with costs.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies on the subject of the disposal of certain surplus funds voted towards the cost of the Transatlantic Mail Service between the United Kingdom and British Guiana and the West Indies.

By Command,
CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

DOWNING STREET,
5th April, 1911.

SIR,

I have the honour to inform you that His Majesty's Government have had under their consideration a question which has arisen as to the apportionment of the cost of the subsidies payable to the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company for their Transatlantic and Intercolonial Mail Services.

2. The subsidy of £63,000 for the Transatlantic Service is met by the contributions which His Majesty's Government and the legislatures of British Guiana and Trinidad have agreed to make to the cost of this service. Since the amount of the subsidy was settled the legislature of Barbados has agreed to pay a contribution of £4,000 a year, and more money has therefore been provided than is actually required for the service. There is however a deficiency to be made good in the subsidy for the Intercolonial service.

3. The West Indian Intercolonial Mail Service Contract of the 29th of August, 1907, was entered into on the understanding that one-half of the subsidy of £25,000 would be paid from Imperial funds and one-half by the Colonies concerned. The recent change in the port of transhipment has involved a re-adjustment of the several contributions paid by the Colonies served by the Intercolonial steamers, and, although increased amounts will be contributed by the Windward and Leeward Islands, the net result will be a deficiency at the rate of £1,500 a year in the moiety of the subsidy which is payable by the West Indian Colonies. His Majesty's Government consider that any failure on the part of the West Indian Colonies as a whole to adhere to the settlement made in 1907 as to the incidence of the cost of the Intercolonial subsidy would constitute a regrettable precedent, and would seriously affect the possibility of future arrangements between the United Kingdom and the Colonies for joint payments for purposes of common interest. As a matter of principle, therefore, His Majesty's Government must insist on the deficiency in the West Indian moiety of the Intercolonial subsidy being treated as the first charge on any surplus funds available for defraying the cost of the West Indian Mail Service. But I am happy to be able to inform you that, subject to this deficiency being made good, the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury have agreed to waive any claim on the part of the Imperial Exchequer, as the principal contributor to the Transatlantic subsidy, to a proportionate reduction of the subsidy payable from Imperial funds, and to devote the whole of the available balance to reducing pro rata the additional amounts voted by the West Indian Colonies to meet the increased cost of the service. A sum of £2,500 a year will be available for this purpose.

4. The principal contributory Colonies have expressed the view that any Colony participating in the benefit of the mail service should bear its share of the increased cost of the service. In order to carry out this principle, which is in accordance with their own views on the subject, His Majesty's Government have asked the legislatures of the Windward and Leeward Islands to vote an additional contribution of £1,000 a year to the Intercolonial subsidy on behalf of either group. It is quite equitable that the additional amounts which the Windward and Leeward Islands are to contribute to the mail service as a whole should be treated in the same way as the contributions of British Guiana and Trinidad though neither the Windward and Leeward Islands nor British Guiana appear to have any claim to relief in respect of the amounts which they originally agreed to contribute to the Intercolonial service.

5. On the basis explained above the amount available will enable His Majesty's Government to refund ten per cent. of the contributions to be received from British Guiana and Trinidad in respect of the Transatlantic service, and of the additional contributions to be received from the Windward and Leeward Islands in respect of the Intercolonial Service. The net amount payable by British Guiana will therefore be £3,000 less ten per cent., or £2,700, in respect of the Transatlantic service, and, of course, £5,000 as hitherto in respect of the Intercolonial service.

6. The gross contribution of £3,000 a year to the Transatlantic service will of course be voted under the appropriate head of the Estimates of Expenditure, and the refund which the Colony may expect to receive from His Majesty's Government will appear as an item in the Estimates of Revenue.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient, humble servant,

L. HARCOURT.

THE Governor begs to notify that he has been informed by the Secretary of State that a despatch has been addressed to the Governor-General of Canada on the subject of the Steamer Service between Canada, Bermuda and the West Indies, and that pending the receipt of a reply to that despatch no further action can be taken. The Secretary of State says in his despatch dated the 11th April:—

"It will be understood that no definite proposals with regard to this service can be placed before you until I am in possession of the views of the Canadian Government. As a basis for discussion I have submitted to that Government a scheme for alternate fortnightly services between ports in Canada and the West Indies, in accordance with the itineraries suggested by the Royal Commission in paragraph 144 of their Report. The scheme provides for an average sea speed of 10 knots, which, I am advised, will be both economical and adequate for commercial purposes. Provision is made for direct communication with Montreal in the summer months.

"You will understand that the terms of any contract which may be made cannot be settled until the views of the Dominion Government are known.

"I can hold out no hope that I shall be able to justify to Parliament any Imperial subsidy for a commercial service in which the trade of the United Kingdom is not in any way interested, and any service that may be arranged must be supported by the Canadian Government and the Governments of the Colonies concerned. The terms of any arrangement into which the Canadian Government propose to enter will be communicated to you before any contribution is asked from the Colony under your Government.

"No arrangement has yet been made by His Majesty's Government for the continuance of the existing contract after the 30th June."

By Command,

CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 24TH DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

N. BUNBURY, Appellant.

versus

W. LATHAM, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the decision of a Magistrate who declared a levy to be illegal and directed the house levied on to be given up and awarded costs.

An objection was raised that the provisions of section 16 of the Magistrates' Appeal Ordinance had not been complied with inasmuch as the recognizance entered into was for the payment of ten dollars only, the costs of the appeal. Counsel who raised the objection stated that from enquiries he had made he found that the taxed costs in the Magistrate's Court, $9.60, had been paid and there was attached to the papers before the Court a receipt by the head bailiff for the sum of ten dollars and twenty cents on a writ of execution No. 134 of 1911 on account W. Latham v. N. Bunbury. This amount represented clearly the $9.60 costs and 60 cents for the writ.

The recognizance to prosecute the appeal is signed by the appellant and one surety and is in the sum of ten dollars costs to abide an appeal. The condition is that if the appellant prosecutes with effect an appeal which he has made to the Supreme Court from the decision of the said Magistrate's Court pronounced on the 10th day of March, 1911, in a case in which he (the said Nathan Bunbury) was defendant and W. Latham, Georgetown, was plaintiff, and satisfies any judgment which may be pronounced against him by the said Supreme Court in respect of the said appeal including the payment of all costs of the said appeal and otherwise and in all other respects abides the result of the said appeal, then the said recognizance shall be void but otherwise shall remain in full force. The recognizance is only for the costs to abide an appeal and was entered into eight days after the payment of $10.20 to the bailiff showing clearly that so far as the judgment for the payment of money was concerned that had been satisfied—although only after a writ of execution had been taken out. This being so there was nothing left as provided for by sec. 16, but a bond to prosecute the appeal and abide by the result that would be, if unsuccessful, the giving up of the house and the payment of the costs of the appeal if any. In this particular case it seems to me that as the costs in the Court below had been paid when the bond was entered into the requirements of sec. 16 were sufficiently complied with. I think it would perhaps have been better had the appellant lodged with the Magistrate the ten dollars, the payment to the bailiff of the costs might be considered, even when obtained by means of a writ of execution, as having been lodged as is permitted by the latter part of section 16.

Holding as I do that the requirements have been complied with, I deal with the appeal on the grounds as argued and which are as follow:—

1. The decision is erroneous in point of law, inasmuch as

(a.) That the Replivisor cannot attack the title of the landlord.

(b.) That Matthews, the tenant, who sold to the Replivisor got land from Bunbury and paid him rent for same on previous occasions in advance.

(c.) Defendant stated in evidence that he was married in community of property to his wife and whatever interest other people may have in the land could not affect the claim of the defendant against Matthews.

(d.) There is no evidence in law of payment or sale and delivery.

2. That the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence in like manner as if the case had been tried by a jury, there would not have been sufficient evidence to sustain the verdict

(a.) It would appear as if there was fraud and collusion between Latham and Matthews (1) in the manner of sale, (2) the value of the house, (3) Matthews' presence in town and yet not summoned as a witness.

(b.) That the value of the house was worth more than it was sold for.

(c.) That the defendant would be entitled to six months' notice before Matthews could remove his building.

From the evidence before the Magistrate, it appears that on 9th July, 1907, Matths was purchased the house for twenty-five dollars from one Betsy Peters for whom the present respondent signed a receipt.

On the 12th July, Matthews paid $5 on account of six months' land rent to 31st December, 1907, leaving a balance due of $1.

The receipt of this is signed by Nat. Bunbury, for Lydia J. Bunbury. The $1 balance was paid on 27th June, 1908, on which day $5 were also paid on account of the land rent to 31st December, 1908. On 15th January, 1909, $5 more were paid on account and the balance of $1 on 30th June, 1909, on which day a further sum of $2 was paid on account of the year 1909. On the 10th December, 1909, a further sum of $5 was paid and on the 28th February, 1910, the balance of $5 for the year 1909.

A levy was made for the rent for 1910, but when, is not clear, apparently some time in December, 1910, The receipt for the purchase by Latham from Matthews is dated 17th January, 1911, and evidence was given that this money was paid to Matthews in the Bailiffs' Office when presumably the levy was paid out.

Latham stated he took possession of the house from Matthews who vacated it on the end of January.

If the Magistrate believed this evidence, as he apparently did from his reason for decision, there was ample proof of payment, sale and delivery.

This disposes of reason 1 (d.) As regards reason 1 (a) the Replivisor does not appear to have attacked the landlord's title—what he did was to claim the house levied on as his property which had been levied on for rent said to be due in advance by John Matthews. As to reason (b.) there was no question that Matthews paid rent for the land to N. Bunbury for Lydia J. Bunbury. N. Bunbury said he acted for his wife who has an interest in the land with Mr.

Humphrey. Mr. Campbell and others. In February the appellant heard the house was sold to Latham, who met him evidently for he told Bunbury he would pay the rent but not in advance. It was after this that Bunbury levied for the rent for 1911 although he had never got it in advance before nor had he ever levied in advance. In the face of the receipts I think the Magistrate was justified in holding that there was no satisfactory evidence that Matthews owed money in advance, or that there was any arrangement for its being paid in advance. As to reason 1 (c.) it was admitted by counsel there was no direct evidence that Bunbury was married in community of property. What evidence there was tended the other way. As to reason 2 (a.) there was no proof of fraud and collusion between Latham and Matthews. The most that could be said if the Magistrate was called upon to decide, he said if the Magistrate was paid off the levy which he was not, was that Nathan paid off the levy and got a receipt for the purchase of the house and took possession of it agreeing to pay land rent but not in advance, this apart from the fact that Bunbury was made acquainted with the sale. The fact that Matthews was not called as a witness was a subject for comment but does not prove fraud.

The defence raised in the Court below to the claim was "that the house belonged to John Matthews, tenant of the piece of land on which it stands. We have no notice that the place was sold to any one." I may remark here that the warrant of distress was taken out by N. Bunbury for a claim he had against John Matthews for rent payable in advance on the 1st January, 1911, for the year 1911. The manner of sale did not show fraud and collusion while the value of the house was not so much beyond what it was said to be worth as to cause suspicion.

As to reason (c.) it does not affect the case in any way as the question of a right to removal does not arise.

The Magistrate expressed an opinion that he did not think defendant would have a right to recover against Matthews as he admits he only acts for his wife who has an interest in the land with a Mr. Humphrey and a Mr. Campbell and others.

As the rent had always been paid to Mrs. Bunbury I do not quite see the force of this last reason for decision. It, however, does not affect the conclusion to which the Magistrate came, which I think was right. I dismiss the appeal with costs.

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

THIS 28TH DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

BOND, Appellant.

versus

MANIFOLD, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge of larceny of two pots, two axes, two buckets, three steel wedges and three and one-half cords of wood, the property of the respondent.

The reasons for appeal shortly stated are: (1) that the Magistrate's Court exceeded its jurisdiction, the value of the said tools alone being given and if the value of the wood alleged to have been stolen be added the total value "might have ousted" the jurisdiction of the said Court; (2) that illegal evidence was admitted without which the decision cannot be sustained, viz: (a.) evidence in examination as to tracks being seen from the respondent's to the appellant's land which evidence did not arise out of any evidence or question given or asked in cross-examination, and (b.) evidence as to a hammer not mentioned in the charge or claimed by the respondent, and (4) that the decision is wholly unwarranted by the evidence, regard being had to the evidence of H. Williams, of the witnesses as to the nails in the pieces of wood, and of the appellant as to a threat by the respondent.

Reason 3 of the reasons of appeal served was struck out, that reason, not being allowed by sect. 9 of the Magistrates' Decisions (Appeals) Ordinance, 1893, as it dealt on a point with the weight of the evidence before the Magistrate.

The value of the things alleged in the charge to have been stolen, exclusive of the wood, is shown by the evidence to have been $7.72. One half cord of the evidence alleged to have been stolen is proved to have been sold for 84 cents. There is no evidence in any way indicating that this was under the market value, and the Court might therefore reasonably conclude that the value of 3½ cords was $5.88. The total value therefore of all the goods alleged to have been stolen was not such as to prevent the Magistrate dealing summarily with the case.

The Magistrate as appears from the record having notwithstanding the objection of counsel, allowed the new matter mentioned in reason 2 (a.) to be introduced in re-examination, the evidence relating thereto cannot be held to have been illegally admitted, but counsel would be entitled to cross-examine on it. (Ord. 20 of 1893, sect. 76 (2)). The evidence mentioned in reason 2 (b.) was irrelevant and inadmissible, but in my opinion the exclusion of that evidence does not render the decision unsustainable.

The evidence of Anna Bond, a witness for the defence and that of Matthew Lamason called in rebuttal, as to the two wedges produced are in direct conflict, and the evidence in cross-examination of James Edwards and Manson Anderson, two other witnesses called by the defendant, raises much doubt as to the truth of the defence set up. On the whole I think there was sufficient evidence (the Magistrate from his reasons appearing to have believed the evidence for the prosecution) to justify the conclusion at which he arrived.

The Magistrate's decision is affirmed and the appeal dismissed without costs, the respondent not having appeared.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

De PAIVA, Appellant.

versus

GAMBLE (Inspector of Police), Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge that the appellant did by a person in his employ deliver on Sunday, 22nd January, 1911, spirituous liquor from his licensed retail spirit shop, the "Rising Sun."

The reasons of appeal are (1) that the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence, the evidence being insufficient to prove that the spirituous liquor found was delivered from the appellant's shop; and (2) that the witness Eva Crawford was in law an accomplice and her evidence not corroborated, and therefore such evidence could not be acted on.

Eva Crawford, according to the evidence, went into a yard adjoining the rumshop yard with a basket in her hand and on coming out was stopped by the police, her basket searched, and a half bottle of rum found in it, and on being asked where she got it, said in the hearing of the appellant's shopman, Paiva, that she got it from him, and Paiva said he did not know her and ran away. Crawford in her evidence says the bottle was handed her by Paiva through a hole in the paling between the yard in which she was and the rumshop yard, which hole is proved by other witnesses to have existed.

The Magistrate could legally convict on Eva Crawford's evidence, even if she were an accomplice and uncorroborated (Koon v. Birch, 27th June, 1907), though it is not desirable for a Magistrate to convict on such evidence, the Ordinance 20 of 1893 declaring it is unsafe to do so. In the present case, however, Crawford's evidence was corroborated by the evidence of other witnesses, that she and Paiva were seen speaking together in the street, that Paiva pointed to the gate of the yard next the rumshop yard and the woman at once went into that yard, Paiva going into the rumshop yard, that a door (the top of which was visible from the street) of the rumshop was seen to open and a few seconds later to close, and Paiva was seen going towards the paling, through the hole in which described by the witnesses, Crawford says the rum was handed her, and that Paiva ran away when the rum was seized and he was questioned on the woman saying she got it from him. The evidence taken altogether was in my opinion sufficient to exclude any reasonable belief that the half bottle of rum was taken into the yard by the woman, and to establish delivery from the appellant's shop.

The Magistrate's decision is affirmed and the appeal dismissed with costs.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

GARNETT, Appellant.

versus

CERES, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge of having in possession on the 20th December, 1910, sugar reasonably suspected to have been stolen.

Of the reasons of appeal, reason 1 (c) and reason 2 were abandoned. The reasons argued are that the decision is erroneous in law; (1) there being no proof that the alleged offence occurred on 20th December, 1910, as averred in the charge or within six months before the making of the complaint; and (2) there being no evidence of reasonable suspicion that the sugar was stolen.

The charge was heard on Tuesday, 17th January, 1911. The prosecutor and his witness each say, "I remember Tuesday, December 20th," and then proceed to narrate what took place. It is urged that no year being mentioned the charge should have been dismissed as the time and place when and where a summary conviction offence was committed have to be alleged and proved (Ord. 12 of 1893, section 8 (5)), and if not proved, there is no evidence that the charge was brought within the time prescribed by law. (Ord. 12 of 1893, sect. 7).

The requirements of section 8 (5) were complied with by the year as well as the day of the month being stated in the complaint. The date given by the witnesses must have been in a year in which the 20th December fell on a Tuesday, and the Court will take judicial notice (cf. Hanson v. Shackleton, 4 Dowl. 48) that it so fell in 1910. This being so, and the evidence as to the offence not having been objected to as irrelevant, as it would have been if it referred to an offence in any other year than that specified in the charge, the date was, in my opinion, sufficiently proved.

The facts proved, viz., that the appellant was at 1.30 a.m. seen on a sugar estate where sugar was being made, with a bag containing sugar on his head, and that as soon as he saw the police constables he dropped the bag and ran away, were, in my opinion, sufficient to justify suspicion that the sugar was stolen.

The Magistrate's decision is affirmed and the appeal dismissed with costs.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

CHESTER, Appellant.

versus

GREENE, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge of having in possession a bottle of rum reasonably suspected of having been unlawfully obtained.

The reasons for appeal arranged in a somewhat different order than stated by counsel are (1) that the decision is erroneous in law (a.) there being no evidence that the bottle containing liquid put in evidence and marked D and A was the same as the one alleged to have been found on the appellant; (b.) there being no evidence that that bottle, if and when found on the appellant, contained rum or anything at all; (c.) there being no evidence of the contents of the bottle, (d.) there being evidence that its contents were not the same liquid as is alleged to have been found on the appellant, and (e.) there being no evidence that the bottle of rum alleged to have been found was reasonably or at all suspected of having been unlawfully obtained; (2) that the bottle already mentioned was illegally admitted in evidence and without it the evidence would be insufficient; (3) that an illegality substantially affecting the merits of the case was committed, the Magistrate having in substance decided against the appellant before the complainant's case was closed and before hearing the defence; and (4) that the decision is wholly unwarranted by the evidence, (a.) and (b.) the evidence being that the bottle and flask were taken during a struggle from the appellant's pocket uncorked but full while he was lying on the ground and (c.) the witnesses Jones and Rohim Bacchus contradicting each other as to the part of the appellant's body on which the bottle was carried.

Reason 1 (a.) is unsustainable in the light of the evidence which identifies and traces bottle D from the time when it was found up to its being put in evidence.

Reason 1 (b.) The evidence of Karamut, Rohim Bacchus and Frank Jones shews the bottle when found contained a white liquid which smelt like rum, and the Excise Officer of the District stated that the part of the contents he did not test was in his opinion strong rum. In view of this evidence reason 1 (b) cannot be supported.

Reasons 1 (c.) and (d.) and (2). It appears from the evidence that the Commissary poured some of the contents of the bottle D into a test glass in which were the contents of a flask also found on the appellant, and subsequently poured some of this mixture after testing it into bottle D. These facts are relied on in support of the reasons just mentioned, but there being evidence that the bottle is the same bottle as found on the appellant, and that its contents before any of the mixture was put in consisted of rum these reasons in my opinion fail. If a package of sugar was dropped in the street by a thief and the sugar mingled with dust and red earth was swept up, it would be legally admissible in evidence and I see no substantial distinction between such a case and this.

Reason 1 (e.) The conduct of the appellant who when stopped fought with the watchman at the factory gate, the thing carried, viz., rum, of the kind made on the plantation and not of the kind usually sold in shops, the hour 8 p.m., and the improbability that rum would be taken into the factory to be brought out again, afforded reasonable ground for suspicion that the rum was unlawfully obtained, notwithstanding the fact that it might have been difficult for the appellant to have taken it from any butt or from the distillery.

Reason 3. The Magistrate appears from the record of proceedings to have said, before the complainant's case was closed, "I however wish it made clear that in my opinion the evidence already submitted establishes a case for the defendant to answer." It is very undesirable for a Magistrate to form and a fortiori to express any positive opinion as to a complainant's case, until he has heard all the evidence tendered, as subsequent evidence brought forward by a complainant may modify the effect of previous evidence, and also a complainant may be thereby deterred from bringing forward evidence which, if heard, would have favourably or adversely affected the value of evidence afterwards given on behalf of the defendant. If in any case the statement of any such opinion showed the Magistrate had not approached the hearing of the defence in a judicial spirit, there might be good ground for re-calling his decision and referring the case for re-hearing before another Magistrate. But in the present case I see no sufficient reason for coming to that conclusion.

Reason 4 is not, in my opinion, established, the evidence referred to being capable of a different interpretation to that placed on it in that reason and the alleged contradictions being insufficient to destroy the effect of all the evidence taken together. The Magistrate's decision is affirmed and the appeal dismissed with costs.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 2ND DAY OF MAY, 1911.

MUNGRA
versus

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The plaintiff, who is a depositor with the Post Office Savings Bank of the colony, claims the sum of $270 with accrued interest as due to him. Notice of withdrawal was given to the Postmaster General on 13th January, 1911, but no warrant was issued for the payment of the amount.

The defence is that a notice of withdrawal was given and that the $250 of which notice of withdrawal was given was paid to the plaintiff on the 7th December, 1910, that on the 12th December, 1910, the plaintiff made a declaration at Fellowship that he had lost his pass-book and a new pass-book was issued showing $20 at credit with $3.14 interest and the plaintiff accepted the same which sum the defence states is all plaintiff is entitled to.

In his reply the plaintiff takes in his favour certain admissions, joins issue on the statement that he is not entitled to the said sum, states that the notice of the loss of the pass-book was given on 9th December, 1910, and admits the statement in paragraph 5 of defence that a new pass-book as alleged was issued and that he accepted the same.

A preliminary point was raised that plaintiff had mistaken his remedy which should be not to recover the sum of $270 but for an order on the Postmaster General to issue a warrant.

I overruled the objection.

From the evidence for the defence it is clear that the Post Office authorities paid the sum of $250 on the 7th December, 1910, to some one who represented himself to be the plaintiff and who produced the pass-book.

The usual formalities were gone through but the identification of the depositor was by no means such as would prevent personation. The mark on the back of the head was not examined, it was pointed to, and is entered as mark at back of forehead whereas it was originally described as at the back of the head. The witnesses also, although they say they have no doubt now that it was the plaintiff who presented the pass-book and drew the money, could not swear to the fact that it was the plaintiff as "all coolies resemble each other."

The plaintiff as a matter of fact has striking features with a very full moustache and peculiarly cut whiskers, but these points were clearly not noticed. The application for a new pass-book stated that the old one was supposed to have been stolen.

There was apparently a prosecution against a man named Hasan Ali in connection with this matter but he was not identified.

The evidence called for the plaintiff satisfies me that he was at Cornelia Ida at the time the money was paid and could not have received it at the Cornhill Post Office where it was paid to some one who personated the plaintiff owing no doubt to there not being sufficient precautions taken to identify the true depositor.

There is nothing to show plaintiff accepted the new pass-book as correct.

I give judgment for plaintiff for $270 and accrued interest and costs.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,
5th May, 1911.

234
HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies on the subject of the disposal of certain surplus funds voted towards the cost of the Transatlantic Mail Service between the United Kingdom and British Guiana and the West Indies.

By Command,
CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

DOWNING STREET,
5th April, 1911.

SIR,

I have the honour to inform you that His Majesty's Government have had under their consideration a question which has arisen as to the apportionment of the cost of the subsidies payable to the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company for their Transatlantic and Intercolonial Mail Services.

2. The subsidy of £63,000 for the Transatlantic Service is met by the contributions which His Majesty's Government and the legislatures of British Guiana and Trinidad have agreed to make to the cost of this service. Since the amount of the subsidy was settled the legislature of Barbados has agreed to pay a contribution of £4,000 a year, and more money has therefore been provided than is actually required for the service. There is however a deficiency to be made good in the subsidy for the Intercolonial service.

3. The West Indian Intercolonial Mail Service Contract of the 29th of August, 1907, was entered into on the understanding that one-half of the subsidy of £25,000 would be paid from Imperial funds and one-half by the Colonies concerned. The recent change in the port of transhipment has involved a re-adjustment of the several contributions paid by the Colonies served by the Intercolonial steamers, and, although increased amounts will be contributed by the Windward and Leeward Islands, the net result will be a deficiency at the rate of £1,500 a year in the moiety of the subsidy which is payable by the West Indian Colonies. His Majesty's Government consider that any failure on the part of the West Indian Colonies as a whole to adhere to the settlement made in 1907 as to the incidence of the cost of the Intercolonial subsidy would constitute a regrettable precedent, and would seriously affect the possibility of future arrangements between the United Kingdom and the Colonies for joint payments for purposes of common interest. As a matter of principle, therefore, His Majesty's Government must insist on the deficiency in the West Indian moiety of the Intercolonial subsidy being treated as the first charge on any surplus funds available for defraying the cost of the West Indian Mail Service. But I am happy to be able to inform you that, subject to this deficiency being made good, the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury have agreed to waive any claim on the part of the Imperial Exchequer, as the principal contributor to the Transatlantic subsidy, to a proportionate reduction of the subsidy payable from Imperial funds, and to devote the whole of the available balance to reducing pro rata the additional amounts voted by the West Indian Colonies to meet the increased cost of the service. A sum of £2,500 a year will be available for this purpose.

4. The principal contributory Colonies have expressed the view that any Colony participating in the benefit of the mail service should bear its share of the increased cost of the service. In order to carry out this principle, which is in accordance with their own views on the subject, His Majesty's Government have asked the legislatures of the Windward and Leeward Islands to vote an additional contribution of £1,000 a year to the Intercolonial subsidy on behalf of either group. It is quite equitable that the additional amounts which the Windward and Leeward Islands are to contribute to the mail service as a whole should be treated in the same way as the contributions of British Guiana and Trinidad though neither the Windward and Leeward Islands nor British Guiana appear to have any claim to relief in respect of the amounts which they originally agreed to contribute to the Intercolonial service.

5. On the basis explained above the amount available will enable His Majesty's Government to refund ten per cent. of the contributions to be received from British Guiana and Trinidad in respect of the Transatlantic service, and of the additional contributions to be received from the Windward and Leeward Islands in respect of the Intercolonial Service. The net amount payable by British Guiana will therefore be £3,000 less ten per cent., or £2,700, in respect of the Transatlantic service, and, of course, £5,000 as hitherto in respect of the Intercolonial service.

6. The gross contribution of £3,000 a year to the Transatlantic service will of course be voted under the appropriate head of the Estimates of Expenditure, and the refund which the Colony may expect to receive from His Majesty's Government will appear as an item in the Estimates of Revenue.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient, humble servant,

L. HARCOURT.

THE Governor begs to notify that he has been informed by the Secretary of State that a despatch has been addressed to the Governor-General of Canada on the subject of the Steamer Service between Canada, Bermuda and the West Indies, and that pending the receipt of a reply to that despatch no further action can be taken. The Secretary of State says in his despatch dated the 11th April:—

“It will be understood that no definite proposals with regard to this service can be placed before you until I am in possession of the views of the Canadian Government. As a basis for discussion I have submitted to that Government a scheme for alternate fortnightly services between ports in Canada and the West Indies, in accordance with the itineraries suggested by the Royal Commission in paragraph 144 of their Report. The scheme provides for an average sea speed of 10 knots, which, I am advised, will be both economical and adequate for commercial purposes. Provision is made for direct communication with Montreal in the summer months.

“You will understand that the terms of any contract which may be made cannot be settled until the views of the Dominion Government are known.

“I can hold out no hope that I shall be able to justify to Parliament any Imperial subsidy for a commercial service in which the trade of the United Kingdom is not in any way interested, and any service that may be arranged must be supported by the Canadian Government and the Governments of the Colonies concerned. The terms of any arrangement into which the Canadian Government propose to enter will be communicated to you before any contribution is asked from the Colony under your Government.

“No arrangement has yet been made by His Majesty's Government for the continuance of the existing contract after the 30th June.”

By Command,

CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 24TH DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

N. BUNBURY, Appellant.

versus

W. LATHAM, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the decision of a Magistrate who declared a levy to be illegal and directed the house levied on to be given up and awarded costs.

An objection was raised that the provisions of section 16 of the Magistrates' Appeal Ordinance had not been complied with inasmuch as the recognizance entered into was for the payment of ten dollars only, the costs of the appeal. Counsel who raised the objection stated that from enquiries he had made he found that the taxed costs in the Magistrate's Court, $9.60, had been paid and there was attached to the papers before the Court a receipt by the head bailiff for the sum of ten dollars and twenty cents on a writ of execution No. 134 of 1911 on account W. Latham v. N. Bunbury. This amount represented clearly the $9.60 costs and 60 cents for the writ.

The recognizance to prosecute the appeal is signed by the appellant and one surety and is in the sum of ten dollars costs to abide an appeal. The condition is that if the appellant prosecutes with effect an appeal which he has made to the Supreme Court from the decision of the said Magistrate's Court pronounced on the 10th day of March, 1911, in a case in which he (the said Nathan Bunbury) was defendant and W. Latham, Georgetown, was plaintiff, and satisfies any judgment which may be pronounced against him by the said Supreme Court in respect of the said appeal including the payment of all costs of the said appeal and otherwise and in all other respects abides the result of the said appeal, then the said recognizance shall be void but otherwise shall remain in full force. The recognizance is only for the costs to abide an appeal and was entered into eight days after the payment of $10.20 to the bailiff showing clearly that so far as the judgment for the payment of money was concerned that had been satisfied—although only after a writ of execution had been taken out. This being so there was nothing left as provided for by sec. 16, but a bond to prosecute the appeal and abide by the result that would be, if unsuccessful, the giving up of the house and the payment of the costs of the appeal if any. In this particular case it seems to me that as the costs in the Court below had been paid when the bond was entered into the requirements of sec. 16 were sufficiently complied with. I think it would perhaps have been better had the appellant lodged with the Magistrate the ten dollars, the payment to the bailiff of the costs might be considered, even when obtained by means of a writ of execution, as having been lodged as is permitted by the latter part of section 16.

Holding as I do that the requirements have been complied with, I deal with the appeal on the grounds as argued and which are as follow:—

1. The decision is erroneous in point of law, inasmuch as

(a.) That the Replivisor cannot attack the title of the landlord.

(b.) That Matthews, the tenant, who sold to the Replivisor got land from Bunbury and paid him rent for same on previous occasions in advance.

(c.) Defendant stated in evidence that he was married in community of property to his wife and whatever interest other people may have in the land could not affect the claim of the defendant against Matthews.

(d.) There is no evidence in law of payment or sale and delivery.

2. That the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence in like manner as if the case had been tried by a jury, there would not have been sufficient evidence to sustain the verdict

(a.) It would appear as if there was fraud and collusion between Latham and Matthews (1) in the manner of sale, (2) the value of the house, (3) Matthews' presence in town and yet not summoned as a witness.

(b.) That the value of the house was worth more than it was sold for.

(c.) That the defendant would be entitled to six months' notice before Matthews could remove his building.

From the evidence before the Magistrate, it appears that on 9th July, 1907, Mat was purchased the house for twenty-five dollars from one Betsy Peters for whom the present respondent signed a receipt.

On the 12th July, Matthews paid $5 on account of six months' land rent to 31st December, 1907, leaving a balance due of $1.

The receipt of this is signed by Nat. Bunbury, for Lydia J. Bunbury. The $1 balance was paid on 27th June, 1908, on which day $5 were also paid on account of the land rent to 31st December, 1908. On 15th January, 1909, $5 more were paid on account and the balance of $1 on 30th June, 1909, on which day a further sum of $2 was paid on account of the year 1909. On the 10th December, 1909, a further sum of $5 was paid and on the 28th February, 1910, the balance of $5 for the year 1909.

A levy was made for the rent for 1910, but when, is not clear, apparently some time in December, 1910. The receipt for the purchase by Latham from Matthews is dated 17th January, 1911, and evidence was given that this money was paid to Matthews in the Bailiffs' Office when presumably the levy was paid out.

Latham stated he took possession of the house from Matthews who vacated it on the end of January.

If the Magistrate believed this evidence, as he apparently did from his reason for decision, there was ample proof of payment, sale and delivery.

This disposes of reason 1 (d.) As regards reason 1 (a) the Replivisor does not appear to have attacked the landlord's title—what he did was to claim the house levied on as his property which had been levied on for rent said to be due in advance by John Matthews. As to reason (b.) there was no question that Matthews paid rent for the land to N. Bunbury for Lydia J. Bunbury. N. Bunbury said he acted for his wife who has an interest in the land with Mr.

Humphrey, Mr. Campbell and others. In February the appellant heard the house was sold to Latham, who met him evidently for he told Bunbury he would pay the rent but not in advance. It was after this that Bunbury levied for the rent for 1911 although he had never got it in advance before nor had he ever levied in advance. In the face of the receipts I think the Magistrate was justified in holding that there was no satisfactory evidence that Matthews owed money in advance, or that there was any arrangement for its being paid in advance. As to reason 1 (c.) it was admitted by counsel there was no direct evidence that Bunbury was married in community of property. What evidence there was tended the other way. As to reason 2 (a.) there was no proof of fraud and collusion between Latham and Matthews. The most that could be said if the Magistrate was called upon to decide, which he was not, was that Nathan paid off the levy and got a receipt for the purchase of the house and took possession of it agreeing to pay land rent but not in advance, this apart from the fact that Bunbury was made acquainted with the sale. The fact that Matthews was not called as a witness was a subject for comment but does not prove fraud.

The defence raised in the Court below to the claim was "that the house belonged to John Matthews, tenant of the piece of land on which it stands. We have no notice that the place was sold to any one." I may remark here that the warrant of distress was taken out by N. Bunbury for a claim he had against John Matthews for rent payable in advance on the 1st January, 1911, for the year 1911. The manner of sale did not show fraud and collusion while the value of the house was not so much beyond what it was said to be worth as to cause suspicion.

As to reason (c.) it does not affect the case in any way as the question of a right to removal does not arise. The Magistrate expressed an opinion that he did not think defendant would have a right to recover against Matthews as he admits he only acts for his wife who has an interest in the land with a Mr. Humphrey and a Mr. Campbell and others.

As the rent had always been paid to Mrs. Bunbury I do not quite see the force of this last reason for decision. It, however, does not affect the conclusion to which the Magistrate came, which I think was right.

I dismiss the appeal with costs.

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

THIS 28TH DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

BOND, Appellant.

versus

MANIFOLD, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge of larceny of two pots, two axes, two buckets, three steel wedges and three and one-half cords of wood, the property of the respondent.

The reasons for appeal shortly stated are: (1) that the Magistrate's Court exceeded its jurisdiction, the value of the said tools alone being given and if the value of the wood alleged to have been stolen be added the total value "might have ousted" the jurisdiction of the said Court; (2) that illegal evidence was admitted without which the decision cannot be sustained, viz: (a.) evidence in re-examination as to tracks being seen from the respondent's to the appellant's land which evidence did not arise out of any evidence or question given or asked in cross-examination, and (b.) evidence as to a hammer not mentioned in the charge or claimed by the respondent, and (4) that the decision is wholly unwarranted by the evidence, regard being had to the evidence of H. Williams, of the witnesses as to the nails in the pieces of wood, and of the appellant as to a threat by the respondent.

Reason 3 of the reasons of appeal served was struck out, that reason, not being allowed by sect. 9 of the Magistrates' Decisions (Appeals) Ordinance, 1893, as it dealt only with the weight of the evidence before the Magistrate.

The value of the things alleged in the charge to have been stolen, exclusive of the wood, is shown by the evidence to have been $7.72. One half cord of the evidence to have been stolen is proved to have been sold for 84 cents. There is no evidence in any way indicating that this was under the market value, and the Court might therefore reasonably conclude that the value of 3½ cords was $3.84. The total value therefore of all the goods alleged to have been stolen was not such as to prevent the Magistrate dealing summarily with the case.

The Magistrate as appears from the record having notwithstanding the objection of counsel, allowed the new matter mentioned in reason 2 (a.) to be introduced in re-examination, the evidence relative thereto cannot be held to have been illegally admitted, but counsel would be entitled to cross-examine on it. (Ord. 20 of 1893, sect. 76 (2)). The evidence mentioned in reason 2 (b.) was irrelevant and inadmissible, but in my opinion the exclusion of that evidence does not render the decision unsustainable.

The evidence of Anna Bond, a witness for the defence and that of Matthew Lamason called in rebuttal, as to the two wedges produced are in direct conflict, and the evidence in cross-examination of James Edwards and Manson Anderson, two other witnesses called by the defendant, raises much doubt as to the truth of the defence set up. On the whole I think there was sufficient evidence (the Magistrate from his reasons appearing to have believed the evidence for the prosecution) to justify the conclusion at which he arrived.

The Magistrate's decision is affirmed and the appeal dismissed without costs, the respondent not having appeared.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

De PAIVA, Appellant.
versus

GAMBLE (Inspector of Police), Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge that the appellant did by a person in his employ deliver on Sunday, 22nd January, 1911, spirituous liquor from his licensed retail spirit shop, the "Rising Sun."

The reasons of appeal are (1) that the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence, the evidence being insufficient to prove that the spirituous liquor found was delivered from the appellant's shop; and (2) that the witness Eva Crawford was in law an accomplice and her evidence not corroborated, and therefore such evidence could not be acted on.

Eva Crawford, according to the evidence, went into a yard adjoining the rumshop yard with a basket in her hand and on coming out was stopped by the police, her basket searched, and a half bottle of rum found in it, and on being asked where she got it, said in the hearing of the appellant's shopman, Paiva, that she got it from him, and Paiva said he did not know her and ran away. Crawford in her evidence says the bottle was handed her by Paiva through a hole in the paling between the yard in which she was and the rumshop yard, which hole is proved by other witnesses to have existed.

The Magistrate could legally convict on Eva Crawford's evidence, even if she were an accomplice and uncorroborated (Koon v. Birch, 27th June, 1907), though it is not desirable for a Magistrate to convict on such evidence, the Ordinance 20 of 1893 declaring it is unsafe to do so. In the present case, however, Crawford's evidence was corroborated by the evidence of other witnesses, that she and Paiva were seen speaking together in the street, that Paiva pointed to the gate of the yard next the rumshop yard and the woman at once went into that yard, Paiva going into the rumshop yard, that a door (the top of which was visible from the street) of the rumshop was seen to open and a few seconds later to close, and Paiva was seen going towards the paling, through the hole in which described by the witnesses, Crawford says the rum was handed her, and that Paiva ran away when the rum was seized and he was questioned on the woman saying she got it from him. The evidence taken altogether was in my opinion sufficient to exclude any reasonable belief that the half bottle of rum was taken into the yard by the woman, and to establish delivery from the appellant's shop.

The Magistrate's decision is affirmed and the appeal dismissed with costs.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

GARNETT, Appellant.

versus

CERES, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge of having in possession on the 20th December, 1910, sugar reasonably suspected to have been stolen.

Of the reasons of appeal, reason 1 (c) and reason 2 were abandoned. The reasons argued are that the decision is erroneous in law; (1) there being no proof that the alleged offence occurred on 20th December, 1910, as averred in the charge or within six months before the making of the complaint; and (2) there being no evidence of reasonable suspicion that the sugar was stolen.

The charge was heard on Tuesday, 17th January, 1911. The prosecutor and his witness each say, "I remember Tuesday, December 20th," and then proceed to narrate what took place. It is urged that no year being mentioned the charge should have been dismissed as the time and place when and where a summary conviction offence was committed have to be alleged and proved (Ord. 12 of 1893, section 8 (5)), and if not proved, there is no evidence that the charge was brought within the time prescribed by law. (Ord. 12 of 1893, sect. 7).

The requirements of section 8 (5) were complied with by the year as well as the day of the month being stated in the complaint. The date given by the witnesses must have been in a year in which the 20th December fell on a Tuesday, and the Court will take judicial notice (cf. Hanson v. Shackleton, 4 Dowl. 48) that it so fell in 1910. This being so, and the evidence as to the offence not having been objected to as irrelevant, as it would have been if it referred to an offence in any other year than that specified in the charge, the date was, in my opinion, sufficiently proved.

The facts proved, viz., that the appellant was at 1.30 a.m. seen on a sugar estate where sugar was being made, with a bag containing sugar on his head, and that as soon as he saw the police constables he dropped the bag and ran away, were, in my opinion, sufficient to justify suspicion that the sugar was stolen.

The Magistrate's decision is affirmed and the appeal dismissed with costs.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

CHESTER, Appellant.

versus

GREENE, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge of having in possession a bottle of rum reasonably suspected of having been unlawfully obtained.

The reasons for appeal arranged in a somewhat different order than stated by counsel are (1) that the decision is erroneous in law (a.) there being no evidence that the bottle containing liquid put in evidence and marked D and A was the same as the one alleged to have been found on the appellant; (b.) there being no evidence that that bottle, if and when found on the appellant, contained rum or anything at all; (c.) there being no evidence of the contents of the bottle, (d.) there being evidence that its contents were not the same liquid as is alleged to have been found on the appellant, and (e.) there being no evidence that the bottle of rum alleged to have been found was reasonably or at all suspected of having been unlawfully obtained; (2) that the bottle already mentioned was illegally admitted in evidence and without it the evidence would be insufficient; (3) that an illegality substantially affecting the merits of the case was committed, the Magistrate having in substance decided against the appellant before the complainant's case was closed and before hearing the defence; and (4) that the decision is wholly unwarranted by the evidence, (a.) and (b.) the evidence being that the bottle and flask were taken during a struggle from the appellant's pocket uncorked but full while he was lying on the ground and (c.) the witnesses Jones and Rohim Bacchus contradicting each other as to the part of the appellant's body on which the bottle was carried.

Reason 1 (a.) is unsustainable in the light of the evidence which identifies and traces bottle D from the time when it was found up to its being put in evidence.

Reason 1 (b.) The evidence of Karamut, Rohim Bacchus and Frank Jones shews the bottle when found contained a white liquid which smelt like rum, and the Excise Officer of the District stated that the part of the contents he did not test was in his opinion strong rum. In view of this evidence reason 1 (b) cannot be supported.

Reasons 1 (c.) and (d.) and (2). It appears from the evidence that the Commissary poured some of the contents of the bottle D into a test glass in which were the contents of a flask also found on the appellant, and subsequently poured some of this mixture after testing it into bottle D. These facts are relied on in support of the reasons just mentioned, but there being evidence that the bottle is the same bottle as found on the appellant, and that its contents before any of the mixture was put in consisted of rum these reasons in my opinion fail. If a package of sugar was dropped in the street by a thief and the sugar mingled with dust and red earth was swept up, it would be legally admissible in evidence and I see no substantial distinction between such a case and this.

Reason 1 (e.) The conduct of the appellant who when stopped fought with the watchman at the factory gate, the thing carried, viz., rum, of the kind made on the plantation and not of the kind usually sold in shops, the hour 8 p.m., and the improbability that rum would be taken into the factory to be brought out again, afforded reasonable ground for suspicion that the rum was unlawfully obtained, notwithstanding the fact that it might have been difficult for the appellant to have taken it from any butt or from the distillery.

Reason 3. The Magistrate appears from the record of proceedings to have said, before the complainant's case was closed, "I however wish it made clear that in my opinion the evidence already submitted establishes a case for the defendant to answer." It is very undesirable for a Magistrate to form and a fortiori to express any positive opinion as to a complainant's case, until he has heard all the evidence tendered, as subsequent evidence brought forward by a complainant may modify the effect of previous evidence, and also a complainant may be thereby deterred from bringing forward evidence which, if heard, would have favourably or adversely affected the value of evidence afterwards given on behalf of the defendant. If in any case the statement of any such opinion showed the Magistrate had not approached the hearing of the defence in a judicial spirit, there might be good ground for re-calling his decision and referring the case for re-hearing before another Magistrate. But in the present case I see no sufficient reason for coming to that conclusion.

Reason 4 is not, in my opinion, established, the evidence referred to being capable of a different interpretation to that placed on it in that reason and the alleged contradictions being insufficient to destroy the effect of all the evidence taken together.

The Magistrate's decision is affirmed and the appeal dismissed with costs.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 2ND DAY OF MAY, 1911.

versus

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The plaintiff, who is a depositor with the Post Office Savings Bank of the colony, claims the sum of $270 with accrued interest as due to him. Notice of withdrawal was given to the Postmaster General on 13th January, 1911, but no warrant was issued for the payment of the amount.

The defence is that a notice of withdrawal was given and that the $250 of which notice of withdrawal was given was paid to the plaintiff on the 7th December, 1910, that on the 12th December, 1910, the plaintiff made a declaration at Fellowship that he had lost his pass-book and a new pass-book was issued showing $20 at credit with $3.14 interest and the plaintiff accepted the same which sum the defence states is all plaintiff is entitled to.

In his reply the plaintiff takes in his favour certain admissions, joins issue on the statement that he is not entitled to the said sum, states that the notice of the loss of the pass-book was given on 9th December, 1910, and admits the statement in paragraph 5 of defence that a new pass-book as alleged was issued and that he accepted the same.

A preliminary point was raised that plaintiff had mistaken his remedy which should be not to recover the sum of $270 but for an order on the Postmaster General to issue a warrant.

I overruled the objection.

From the evidence for the defence it is clear that the Post Office authorities paid the sum of $250 on the 7th December, 1910, to some one who represented himself to be the plaintiff and who produced the pass-book.

The usual formalities were gone through but the identification of the depositor was by no means such as would prevent personation. The mark on the back of the head was not examined, it was pointed to, and is entered as mark at back of forehead whereas it was originally described as at the back of the head. The witnesses also, although they say they have no doubt now that it was the plaintiff who presented the pass-book and drew the money, could not swear to the fact that it was the plaintiff as "all coolies resemble each other."

The plaintiff as a matter of fact has striking features with a very full moustache and peculiarly cut whiskers, but these points were clearly not noticed. The application for a new pass-book stated that the old one was supposed to have been stolen.

There was apparently a prosecution against a man named Hasan Ali in connection with this matter but he was not identified.

The evidence called for the plaintiff satisfies me that he was at Cornelia Ida at the time the money was paid and could not have received it at the Cornhill Post Office where it was paid to some one who personated the plaintiff owing no doubt to there not being sufficient precautions taken to identify the true depositor.

There is nothing to show plaintiff accepted the new pass-book as correct.

I give judgment for plaintiff for $270 and accrued interest and costs.

THIS 3RD DAY OF MAY, 1911.

HING CHEONG & COMPANY, LIMITED
(In Liquidation), Plaintiff,

versus

MAN-SON-HING, Defendant.

The plaintiff company seeks to recover from the defendant $16,052 27 under a written agreement dated 21st May, 1910.

The defendant having made default in delivering a statement of defence the action has been heard ex parte.

The agreement, the fulfilment of all conditions precedent to the right to sue, and the incorporation of the Company, the resolution to wind up and appointment of the liquidator have been duly proved.

The provisions of clauses 13 and 17 of the agreement as to the shares in the Company originally held by the defendant and transferred by him to P. Cressall and F. C. C. Burka do not, we think, restrict the plaintiff's right to bring this action. Those clauses do not, in our opinion, require credit to be given for any sums likely to be received as dividends not yet actually declared before the Company sues under the agreement, and the liquidator says in his evidence no dividends have yet been declared, although he now has moneys in hand.

Judgment is given for the plaintiff with costs.

HING CHEONG & COMPANY, LIMITED
(In Liquidation), Plaintiff,

versus

TAT AND MAN-SON-HING, Defendants.

The plaintiff seeks to recover $3,251 55 from the defendants for goods sold, supplied and delivered, and for money paid and advanced to and for them at their request on and between the 1st July, 1908, and the 4th August, 1909.

The action as against Man-Son-Hing has been heard ex parte under O. xv. R. 4 and his liability to the plaintiff is established. The appointment of Mr. Osborne as liquidator was not formally proved, but is, we think, as against Man-Son-Hing prima facie established, the defendant Man-Son-Hing being proved to have dealt with and recognised him as such. His appointment is not questioned by Tat's statement of defence.

The goods and moneys in respect of which the action is brought were supplied and paid to and in connection with a shop at Bartica, one at Groete Creek and one at Black Creek in Essequibo. The evidence shows that such goods and moneys were not supplied and paid in compliance with any express request of the defendant Tat, but it is contended that he and Man-Son-Hing carried on the business of those shops as partners, and that he, as well as Man-Son-Hing, is therefore liable in respect of goods supplied and moneys paid at the request of the latter only.

It is practically not contested and is shown by the evidence that the defendants were partners in these businesses up to 30th June, 1908, they being up to that date the sole partners forming the firm of Hing Cheong & Company, and owning these and other shops: that in June, 1908, the limited company which is plaintiff in this action was incorporated and purchased the principal business of the firm Hing Cheong & Company in Lombard Street; that the grocery businesses carried on by that firm in Lombard and Camp Streets were also sold about that time to one Chin-a-Young; and that Tat agreed to accept from Man-Son-Hing $2,000 for his share in the partnership business which included the Bartica, Black and Groete Creek shops as at 30th June, 1908, and on the 23rd August, 1908, inserted a notice in "The Daily Argosy" that he had ceased to be a member of the firm as from 1st July, 1908.

No notice of Tat's ceasing to be a member of the firm was published in the Gazette, and the evidence does not show that the notice in "The Argosy" was seen by the plaintiff company. But it is proved, by the witnesses P. Cressall and W. Lawson, that Man-Son-Hing was both a director and also manager of the Company's business from the 1st July, 1908. We think, therefore, the Company must be held to have known that Tat and Man-Son-Hing had ceased to be partners as from the 1st July, 1908, and consequently that on and after that date Man-Son-Hing had no authority to bind Tat in respect of goods or moneys supplied or paid to the three shops. The entries also in the Company's journal (fo. 59) and ledger (foas. 137, &c., 151, &c., 429, &c.), go to show the Company's knowledge of the facts mentioned, the entries in the journal showing the stock in hand in each of the three shops in July, 1908, with the name of William Man-Son-Hing placed against each entry, and the entries in the ledger from 1st July, 1908, against each shop being kept, at the date such accounts begin and for a considerable time afterwards, under a heading which shows Man-Son-Hing's name in addition to the name of the shop to which goods were supplied. The statement of Mr. Cressall, who had not made and was not familiar with these entries, that he supposed the ones in the journal were so made, because Man-Son-Hing sold the business of Hing Cheong & Company to the plaintiff company and was regarded as the dominant partner, and that the amounts therein so entered and also the three shops were (he considered) included in the property sold to the Company by the vendors, does not, we think, affect the inference to be drawn from the ledger entries from July on.

It follows from what has been said as to the plaintiff company knowing that Tat had ceased to be a partner with Man-Son-Hing as from 1st July, 1908, that the Company could not after that date hold Tat liable in respect of goods or moneys supplied or paid to or in connection with the three shops, unless any subsequent events rendered him liable, or, at any rate, precluded him from denying liability. In support of his liability it is urged that in July and August, 1909, Tat joined with Man-Son-Hing in instructing Walter Bagot & Company to sell the three shops, including the good-will, book debts, &c., of the businesses therein carried on, and also signed along with Man-Son-Hing the conditions of sale in which the businesses are described as businesses of Hing Cheong & Company. It is argued that this is an admission that he had continued a partner up to August, 1909, and that he cannot now deny it.

It appears from the statements of counsel for both parties, that an action had been brought by Tat against Man-Son-Hing sometime before that sale took place, and that the Court held the partnership between them terminated on 30th June, 1908, continuing thereafter only so far as was necessary for winding up its affairs. The correspondence between Tat's and Man-Son-Hing's solicitors as to the sale of the three shops shows, that accounts had been ordered for the purpose of adjusting the rights inter se of the two partners, and that in order to complete the accounts the three shops had to be realised, and the proceeds of sale brought to account. Under these circumstances the instructions to sell and the conditions of sale were given and signed by Tat on the statement of Man-Son-Hing's solicitor, acquiesced in by Tat's solicitor, that unless the parties agreed to a sale and to its terms, an application would have to be made to the Court for instructions in the matter. The sale appears to us to have been made with the sole object of determining the value of the property sold, its value not having been precisely determined on the 30th June, 1908, and its value at the date of sale being taken as being the same as at the 30th June. In the face of Tat's evidence (which if untrue might have been but is not contradicted by other evidence and which is in part supported by Mortley's) that after the 30th June, 1908, he had nothing to do with the three shops, was never consulted about them, gave no orders for goods for them, did not take part in any stock-taking after that date save the one under the arrangement for sale and did not know whether they were being worked at a profit or a loss, the Court cannot infer that a partnership between Tat and Man-Son-Hing in the businesses carried on at the three shops by Man-Son-Hing alone after Tat agreed to accept $2,000 for his share in Hing Cheong & Co. continued up to the actual sale in August, 1909, or that the agreement as to sale of the shops signed under the circumstances mentioned was an admission that the partnership in those businesses continued up to the date of the sale—and even if it was an estoppel a third party like the plaintiff company could not, in our opinion, take advantage of it not being a third party thereto. It is urged on behalf of the plaintiff that the Court having decided that the partnership continued after the 30th June, as far as was required for winding up its affairs, and the three shops and businesses having to be sold as a going concern, it was necessary to obtain goods and moneys for the purpose of carrying them on, and that not having been sold till August 1908, the partnership in these shops and businesses continued in law until the sale. This position in our opinion cannot be maintained. It was not necessary for winding up the partnership affairs that these shops should be carried on from the 30th June, 1908, to August, 1909, nor having regard to the entries in the Journal, which (Mr. Cressall states) represent stock in hand at the three shops in July, 1908, can it be held that it was necessary to purchase more stock to enable the businesses to be sold as a going concern. If these shops had been sold as a going concern, very shortly after the 30th June, 1908, no liability would have been incurred by the purchase of additional stock, and the rights of the partners had to be adjusted as if such sale had been made, the partnership having been held dissolved at that date save as far as necessary for winding up, hence the partnership cannot be held to have continued until August, 1909, that not being necessary for the purposes of winding up. It is clear (as already said) on the evidence that the shops after the 30th June, 1908, were carried on by Man-Son-Hing alone with the constructive knowledge of the plaintiff company and that Tat did not share in the profits or losses after that date.

On the evidence taken altogether, we think the plaintiff company must be deemed to have known at the beginning of July, 1908, that Tat retired from the partnership with Man-Son-Hing as from the 30th June, 1908, that the subsequent dispute and legal proceedings between Tat and Man-Son-Hing to which the plaintiff was not a party and the arrangements made by Tat and Man-Son-Hing under the circumstances already detailed for the sale of the three shops did not give the plaintiff company a right (which previously it did not possess) to charge Tat with liability for goods and moneys supplied and paid in connection with the three shops on and between the 1st July, 1908, and the 4th August, 1909, or create or prove the existence or preclude Tat from denying the existence of a partnership with Man-Son-Hing between those dates.

The action, therefore, as against Tat must be dismissed with costs: as against Man-Son-Hing judgment is given for the plaintiff with costs.

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

M. J. BERKELEY, J.

THIS 5TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

GONSALVES, Plaintiff.

GOMES, Executor of Estate of J. Gomes, Defendant.

The plaintiff, as one of the six children and heirs under the joint will of Joaquim Gomes and Maria Gomes, claims from the defendant, as executor of the said will, an inventory of the estate of the deceased, an account of his dealings and intromissions therewith from the 7th December, 1905, when the last living of the said two spouses died, and payment of such sum as may be found due and payable to her.

The defence is that all the property and effects belonging to the joint estate with one exception were with the full knowledge and consent of the plaintiff sold prior to the 31st March, 1906, that the defendant on or about the 17th March, at the plaintiff's request, rendered her and the other heirs a full and true account of his dealings with the estate which she examined, and agreed to accept the sum of $555.50 shown thereby to be her share in the estate, that subsequently on or about the 5th April, 1906, he verbally agreed to pay her a further sum of $44.50, making a total sum of $600, which sum she agreed to accept in full payment of her said share, and that the receipt thereof in full settlement was acknowledged by her in writing on the 30th April, 1906. A plea of prescription under Ord. 1 of 1856, is also pleaded, but this was not argued.

By her reply the plaintiff joins issue on the defence, and alleges that she did not attain her majority till 3rd April, 1906, that if accounts were rendered, they were not true and correct, though so represented by the defendant, that no vouchers were produced, the accounts were never explained to her and she never examined the accounts; that if she agreed to them or to accept $555.50 or $600, and gave a written acknowledgment as alleged, she did so relying on the false and fraudulent representations of the defendant that the accounts were correct, or by mistake thinking the accounts were correct and that the $600 was all she was entitled to; and that the accounts are incorrect in the following items, viz: (a) under date 17th March, 1906, the estate is not credited with the value of scrip sold the defendant; (b) the amount charged on the same date as executor's commission is excessive, the several sums $3,905, $575, $2,165 and $521.61 on which commission is charged not being receipts; (c) the sum $1,599.86 charged under date 17th March, 1906, as a debt to the defendant from the estate being excessive, only $1,000 being due and owing; and (d) the defendant having failed to credit the estate with two $20 gold pieces value $39.60, two $1 gold pieces value $1.92, and three ozs. of nugget gold, value $18, all received by him in or about February, 1906.

The plaintiff's birth certificate shows she attained her majority on 3rd April, 1906. She admits in her evidence that the account (marked A) of the defendant as executor, purporting to show the value of all the property belonging to the estate dealt with by the defendant, the several payments made on account of the estate, the balance remaining for division among the six heirs, and each heir's share as amounting to $555.50, was given her by the defendant. We see no reason to doubt the evidence of Jose Correia, the Accountant, who kept the accounts of the testator J. Gomes and was acquainted with his business, and who made up the account marked A. From his evidence, it appears that the scrip referred to in Account A under date 17th March, 1906, was scrip transferred by the testator to the defendant at face value in part payment of a debt of a few dollars over $1,000 owed by the testator in respect of the purchase of the defendant's interest in the "Fireside" Retail Spirit Shop, it being agreed that, if the scrip when sold fetched less than the face value, the difference should be paid by the testator: from the same evidence coupled with the promissory note (L) produced, it is clear that the charge of $1,599.86 in account A under date 17th March, 1906, as a debt against the estate is correct, that promissory note having been given not in respect of the $1,000 debt just mentioned, but in respect of moneys borrowed from the defendant in connection with a ship at Tumatamari; and from the same evidence along with that given by the plaintiff in cross-examination and by Rosa de Freitas, we believe that the gold pieces were treated as cash and their value and that of the pieces of nugget gold included in that account. That account, therefore, was not incorrect in the items (a), (c) and (d) specified in the plaintiff's reply.

The four sums in the item (b) in the plaintiff's reply alleged not to have been received by the defendant, and, therefore, to have been wrongly regarded as receipts in calculating his commissions as executor, appear from the evidence to be the proceeds of sale of parts of the testator's property sold at auction and bought by Alfred de Freitas, whose wife was one of the six heirs of the estate. Account A shows that the whole value of the estate, if these four sums had all been excluded, would not have been sufficient to pay the debts due by the estate, together with the executor's commission on such part of the assets as he was bound to get in to pay those debts. It was therefore necessary that some of the assets represented by the four sums specified should be sold and the executor was entitled to commission on the proceeds of such necessary sale, and apart from the licensed retail spirit shop and its stock (which could not properly be sold separately and of which the proceeds are represented by two of those sums) the two other assets were not of sufficient value to meet the deficit. It may be that the sale (in addition to the shop and stock) of these two other assets was not strictly necessary to enable the executor to perform his duties as executor, but the sums of $44.50 each paid by the defendant out of his commission to the heirs aggregate more than the commission on the amount of the proceeds of sale of these two assets. The agreements between four of the heirs made after the sale of the four assets to A. de Freitas whereby those heirs agreed to take over these assets in partnership, setting off pro tanto against the purchase money the $600 coming to each of them did not in our opinion deprive the executor of his right to commission on the whole purchase money of those assets. In view of the foregoing consideration we think that the allegation that the amount charged in account A as executor's commission is excessive is in substance disproved, the amount actually received as commission not being proved to be excessive but only the item as it appears in the account.

The exact date when account A was given to the plaintiff is not shown by the evidence. The plaintiff says it was given her in March, 1906, but in cross-examination she states that it was given her after De Souza, her brother-in-law, took steps to obtain accounts as to his wife's share in the estate, from the receipt J. It appears De Souza was on the 18th April paid $600 in full discharge of his wife's share of the estate dealt with, and J. Correia says "after this (i.e., the payment to De Souza) the accounts were made up for the other heirs... I supplied a copy to each heir." This evidence taken together points to a later date than March, to a date after the plaintiff had attained her majority. The plaintiff says the accounts were given her to see whether they were correct, but that she did not know whether they were right or wrong, and that the defendant gave her no information as to the estate. In cross-examination, however, she says: "I will not swear he (i.e., Jose Correia) did not go through the items with me. I can't remember" and J. Correia in his evidence states that he went through the items in the account with the plaintiff, producing receipts and vouchers and explaining the items, that she enquired about some items and said she understood the accounts and explanation, and that he told her that although the accounts showed only $555.53 as her share, the defendant would make it up to $600, for her and each of the other heirs, they being brothers and sister, and he having drawn his commission. On the 30th April, 1906, the plaintiff gave the defendant the receipt (D) acknowledging the receipt of $600 from him as executor in full satisfaction and settlement of her share in the estate so far as the same had been realised "as per account rendered to date." Even if the plaintiff were not of full age when the accounts were first shown her, she had attained her majority when she gave this receipt, and on the evidence we believe that she had full information given her, and knew and understood the effect of what she was doing. The account A must in our opinion be regarded as a settled account, none of the errors alleged in the plaintiff's reply have been proved, and no sufficient ground for reopening this account has been established.

It appears from the evidence that the only property of the estate not included in account A is an undivided interest in a part known as Sophia's Town of the plantation Friendship, which has not been sold, and now belongs to the six heirs in equal undivided shares. The executor has never taken possession of or dealt with this property, hence no account in respect thereof can be claimed from him.

The action is dismissed with costs.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 5TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

W. E. DAVIS,

DAVID FOO.

The plaintiff claims on his amended statement of claim, such amendment having been allowed by the Court, shortly, the sum of $1,000 as damages for injuries to his wife occasioned by the breaking of a beam under the floor of the gallery of a cottage rented by the plaintiff at $3.50 a month from the defendant, she being for a long time prevented from attending to her domestic duties having to relinquish her work as schoolmistress and he the (plaintiff) incurred expenses for medical treatment, &c. It is alleged that the notice of the defendant was specially drawn to the defective state of the cottage but nothing was done although promises had previously been made.

The defence is that the rent was $3 a month and that the cottage was in proper and habitable condition and that it ever got out of such condition no notice was given. The defence goes on to say that if the support of the floor suddenly broke it was the result of a latent defect in one of the sills and in respect of which the defendant would not be liable. Damage to the plaintiff is denied as is also the expenses said to have been incurred but if he is liable the damages are said to be excessive.

From the evidence there is no question that a beam under the gallery of the cottage rented by plaintiff from defendant at a rental of $3.50 subsequently reduced to $3, did break on 15th May, 1910, and that there was left a space of about six feet of the floor without any support. Across this space was a pitch pine board an inch thick and about a foot wide, nailed to the beams on either side of the rotten beam which beam had been eaten away by wood ants a short distance from the sill. The gallery is 5 feet 6 inches wide and about 22 feet long, the beams running across. At the time of the breakage, according to the evidence for the plaintiff, Mrs. Davis had gone along the gallery to where he was sitting at the extreme end at a table facing north. He turned towards her and while speaking the beam broke. He and she both say she was jerked up and fell on a chair which was in the door of the drawing room.

The door of the drawing room appears to be about five feet from the south side of the gallery. The door itself is 3 feet 6 inches wide so that the chair was about 8 feet 6 inches from the south-end of the gallery and 13 feet 6 inches from the north-end. The plaintiff was sitting at a table at the north-end. The table would be at the most 3 feet wide, and the chair on which plaintiff sat about another 2 feet making the position of the plaintiff to be about 5 feet from the north-end of the gallery and about 8 feet 6 inches from the chair. According to her own evidence, plaintiff's wife was by him, that would be closet, so that her position would be about 8 feet from the chair in the doorway which was behind her. The plaintiff himself says it was the third beam from the north-end that broke, that would be 6 or 7 feet from the north-end of the gallery about. Now the plaintiff's wife is said to be 150 pounds in weight, this is given apparently to account for the sudden collapse of the beam which is described as rotten all through at the top owing to the devastation by wood ants, which were, it is presumed, attracted by the sappy condition of the wood, the result of a leak in the roof over the spot. That there was a leak is undoubted for later it was covered with neponset. This was after the breaking of the beam.

According to the statements of both plaintiff and his wife to which I have referred she was thrown backwards when the beam broke striking her back against the chair which was in the doorway—about 8 feet away. If this were so the board which was unsupported for six feet must have acted as a veritable spring board which can hardly be credited under the detailed circumstances. It was of pitch pine, quite sound, an inch thick and drooped, so the carpenter says, about 2 inches when stood upon after the beam broke, the result, it is suggested, of its not being tongued and grooved like the other boards of the floor.

I cannot but come to the conclusion that the account as given by the plaintiff and his wife is much exaggerated to say the least of it.

From the evidence of the doctor there is no doubt that the plaintiff's wife met with an accident of some kind. When seen on the 16th May, 1910, there was a contusion about two inches square near the middle line of the back, there was a displacement of the womb and a profuse bloody discharge from the vagina, with swelling and heat in the pelvic region, pelvic peritonitis and other symptoms were found. From the acute inflammation set up there was a thickening later on of the muscular fibres. The plaintiff's wife is now pregnant and in such a condition might be liable to premature delivery from slight causes. The symptoms seen on 16th May, the doctor said, were the result of applied violence of some kind and might have been caused by a fall or a jar as she had only recently been delivered of a child.

There is a great conflict of evidence as to the notice given to the defendant of the cottage not being in a proper state of repair. Owing to the pleading alleging that the defendant's attention was specially called to this I was obliged to exclude statements said to have been made to one Fung who was not called and notice to whom as an agent, was not alleged. If attention was drawn to any necessary repairs at all, the leak in the roof was the only thing I am convinced that was alluded to. I am not satisfied that the beam was ever mentioned or that it was ever tested in the manner stated by striking it with a stick. No communication in writing of any defects is shown to have been made as one would have expected of the leak made the house uninhabitable or had it been very extensive. If the testing had been done in the presence of the plaintiff and the beam was in the rotten state it is described to have been in, the dull sound emitted on being struck could not have escaped attention. If the nails would not hold an observation from above would have afforded conclusive proof of the condition of the beam, as the carpenter witness said, and a slight prising of the board would have revealed it far more easily than by going under the cottage as stated, which is only on three feet pillars.

There is one feature in the case which I cannot pass over without a remark. That is a letter written by the plaintiff to a man named Spencer who was, it is said, the first person to examine the beam. This man, a carpenter, is a relative of the plaintiff and is alleged to have recommended the calling in of another carpenter, presumably Samuel Henry, who gave evidence and who saw the beam on the very day it broke.

This letter is peculiar and is certainly open to grave criticism, especially when the man Spencer was not called as a witness. It was stated by Counsel for the plaintiff that he had turned.

The letter referred to is as follows:—

Mahaica, East Coast,

October 31, 1910.

My Dear Gerald,—I am indeed stunned and completely knocked out by the letter I received from you to-day and with the terrible illness I have had at home it has completely broken me down.

My little boy is so ill that last night I had to take him over to the Doctor. Perle has been getting fits again. Hyacinth and Fanny are sick with fever and cough and Adina and I both have been getting fever.

Now, Gerald, you know that I don't want you to tell lies, you examined the floor and you examined the beam. You have seen that the floor all along opens for about a quarter of an inch at every board and just over that place the water leaks very badly from the roof. Fung has seen it as well as his friends. Now, the water runs through these openings and must settle on the beam, there is no sun there to dry it, and from time to time this is taking place, the beam will get rotten, as we all saw how rotten the beam was, apart from anything else when we went to it on the Monday morning. You saw how Adina suffered and is still suffering and will suffer as long as she lives from her womb. The Doctor and a midwife told me that. Only last week she had to see the doctor again for the same trouble. His bill is $50, then there are the two doctors in town again to be paid. You see how patiently for nearly six months I have waited on Foo before taking steps and he did nothing.

Now as a man, as a relative of mine and as a friend of Adina, think, can I lose all these things and have her in pain and suffering for all her life and having to meet expense from time to time without getting some substantial compensation? I don't want to make money out of Foo. I simply want to pay the debts incurred and to treat my wife in her troubles. You know I should have been out of the colony to-day, but it is this matter that has kept me. Look at all this inconvenience. Now, Gerald, think over what you have written to say. As much depends on you as upon the doctor and myself. I will have to prove that the water leaked through the floor and you giving expert evidence as a carpenter boss will prove that as long as the water rests there the beam got rotten from that. I have deposited $5 a day for your attendance at Court. In addition to this my promise to you of so much per cent. of the judgment not as a bribe but for your advice to me to get a second carpenter to examine the place holds good and you know I always keep my word. Of course I have not mentioned to any one, not even to Mr. Henery, the evidence we intend to lead about the beam so that it should not be known and cause the other side to bring false evidence to counteract it. You can advise Foo to see me or the lawyer and offer some proper compensation before the matter goes further. I went to town on Saturday and the writ has already been handed in. I have no desire to go to Court and if he offers proper compensation to comprise, the matter will be considered. Reply on Wednesday, please, positively.

Love for self and children.

Look here on 12th of this month. I was advised by the doctor if I would like my wife to live for any time to take care of my children, I must not cohabit with her at all; think of all these things and if Foo will not offer proper compromise be prepared to state what I have asked you if the matter goes to Court.

Faithfully yours,

WILLIE.

The letter referred to as having been received by Spencer was not produced, the plaintiff saying that he was not sure what had become of it and that he had not the faintest recollection of what Spencer wrote in his letter. The per cent. he admitted was to be on the amount of damages obtained.

The letter written by Spencer would, in all probability, have thrown some light on what passed between them, and I cannot believe that the plaintiff has not the faintest recollection of what was in it.

A letter was also written by the plaintiff to the defendant as follows:

Queenstown, Essequibo,
May 17, 1910.

David Foo, Esq.,

Dear Sir,—I regret to inform you that my wife is lying seriously ill in bed from injuries received through a beam in the house I rent from you breaking away under her shortly after 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, May 15th, 1910.

Immediately as it happened I communicated the circumstances to your representative at Queenstown, Mr. Jos. Fung, and as you were there at the time I thought you would have called to see the damage but neither of you was so interested.

Mrs. Davis grew worse and I had to telegraph for the doctor but he was out. At 9 o'clock on the same night I had to call in a nurse-midwife who is still in attendance and the village dispenser was requisitioned at the same time and gave medicine.

Early yesterday the doctor visited, described her case as serious and bandaged Mrs. Davis himself. He visited again this morning and says that she must be kept quiet and that she may have to be in bed for about three weeks. I may mention it is not five weeks since she had a baby.

Faithfully yours,

W. E. DAVIS.

Witnesses } S. A. TROTMAN.
J. E. R. LONDON.

No reply was received to this but according to the plaintiff a new beam was put in on 16th May, 1910. Defendant says he had it put in after receiving the letter of 17th May, 1910, this is probably correct.

In October, 1910, the defendant obtained judgment for four months' rent and later on for another amount. I may say I was not much impressed by the way defendant gave his evidence.

Fung was not called but there is no direct proof of his agency which is denied by the defendant although he admits certain special directions having been given to Fung.

These are the facts of the case.

Certain questions of law were raised by counsel for the defence.

1. If any injuries were received at all was not plaintiff bound to give notice and does the evidence support this? Leak is alleged.

2. Action is brought by the plaintiff who was married to his wife after the Married Woman's Property Act, 1904.

3. Plaintiff's wife has the right to bring action in her own name. Plaintiff cannot bring an action for her.

4. An action under Tort is a civil remedy.

5. Separate amounts should have been claimed—there should have been a double action.

6. There must be notice.

For the plaintiff it was argued that although community has been abolished in this colony the husband has certain obligations one of which is to find a house for his wife and he is the proper person to bring an action as there was no privity between the wife and the landlord. Only general damages, it was admitted, are claimed.

This being so evidence of special damage was excluded.

With regard to points 2, 3, 4 and 5, even if the wife could bring an action and that the plaintiff could not do so for her this does not, in my opinion, prevent the plaintiff himself from bringing an action in his own name for damages caused to him by injuries to his wife.

This action is one by a tenant against his landlord and although it is for damages resulting from personal injuries to the wife for which under ordinary circumstances the wife could sue in her own name, the present action is one in which the plaintiff seeks to recover damages caused him personally as resulting from injuries to his wife and loss of her services. The case of Weldon v. Winslow 13 Q.B.D., 784 quoted for defence, in my opinion, does not apply, nor does Trelway v. Machin, 91, L.T.R., p. 310, which deals with English law.

Points 1 and 6 are practically the same. There is no doubt that when damages are claimed in a case such as this it is necessary to show either that the landlord knew of the material defect or from the nature of his profession or occupation he ought to have known of it. (Bensley v. Clear, Buchanan, 1878, p. 90-91) Roman-Dutch law differs from the English law as to a landlord's duty to keep in repair. But whatever sympathy the Court may feel for the plaintiff's wife who clearly has been injured by a jar, or a fall or a blow the case must be decided upon well established principles of law and evidence.

The questions, to my mind, for decision are:—

1. Has it been proved satisfactorily that the plaintiff's wife was injured as alleged in consequence of the beam under the floor of the gallery breaking while she was standing on the floor?

2. Was the rotten condition of the beam caused directly by water lodging on the board over it from a leak in the roof?

3. If so, was notice of this leak given to the defendant himself as alleged? and

4. If such notice was given was the defendant negligent in not keeping the roof in proper repair?

After a careful consideration of the evidence, I believe the plaintiff's wife probably did receive a jerk the result of the breaking of the beam under the floor of the gallery on which she was standing. She may have stumbled but the presence of a concussion would indicate, as Dr. Nedd said, applied violence of some kind, sought to be explained by the statement that she was lifted up and thrown backwards on to the chair which was in the door of the drawing-room. But the account given by the plaintiff and his wife of the occurrence, is, in my opinion, as I have already stated, very much exaggerated especially when they state she was thrown backwards by the springing up of the board, and that she, a woman of 150 pounds weight, was lifted up and thrown backwards on to the chair which was some feet behind her. According to Dr. Nedd, a jar from below or a fall would, from her then parturient state, have caused the backward displacement of the womb and the other symptoms.

This accords with his statement of the application of violence such as suddenly and forcibly sitting down on the floor or falling against a hard substance, but this was not proved. I, therefore, find that the injuries were not caused as alleged.

The only evidence as to the rotten condition of the beam having been caused by the leak was that it was "a little soppy," but the damage was really done by wood ants which evidently abounded in and about the yard and found their way to the beam.

I am not, therefore, satisfied that the rotten condition of the beam was caused by any leak in the roof.

There is a statement in the letter of the plaintiff to Spencer to the effect that the floor all along opens for about a quarter of an inch at every board. This does not correspond with the evidence that the one board which sank, which was a new one, was not tongued and grooved. The other boards were clearly so tongued and grooved and remained rigid.

I think that mention was probably made of the leak in the roof to Fung but this is not pleaded. There was no evidence of its being a very bad leak such as would necessitate the use of any utensil to catch the water or the placing of cloth to mop it up. It was apparently confined to one spot.

I have no doubt that the defendants did not take steps to repair the roof until after the fall of the beam. Later on the whole roof was covered by his directions with neponset. The letter to Spencer although it speaks of not wishing him to tell lies, that the offer made is not a bribe, was to say the least of it most indiscreet when in it plaintiff promises a percentage on the amount of the judgment recovered for the advice to get a second carpenter and stating Spencer must be prepared to state what he was asked to state. The non-production of the letter which caused this reply is also suspicious. Sympathizing as I do with the condition of the plaintiff's wife, which is apparently aggravated by the plaintiff not following the advice of the doctor as mentioned in his letter to Spencer, I do not feel that on the conclusions at which I have arrived on the evidence and on the pleadings I can do other than dismiss the claim.

There will therefore be judgment for the defendant with costs.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 10TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

LAURENCE
JOHNSON.

This action is brought by the plaintiff to recover from the defendant the sum of $1,103.04 due under his promissory note of 22nd October, 1910, at two months with interest thereon from 24th December.

The making of the note is admitted by the defendant but it is alleged that it was signed under protest as the plaintiff threatened proceedings under a mortgage held by him on defendant's stock-in-trade as a druggist and that immediately after, to wit, on 3rd November, 1910, he notified plaintiff that he did not admit liability for the whole sum. He now—on the grounds set out in his defence—claims to set-off the sum of $580.17 being the items set out in schedules A to E attached thereto.

The plaintiff, by his reply, joins issue and alleges that the defence discloses no answer to his claim. A partial failure of consideration to an unliquidated amount being no defence to an action on a promissory note.

The history of the business relationship between the plaintiff and defendant dates back to 1901, when the plaintiff on 25th April, endorsed a promissory note made by defendant for $2,153.01 by means of which he was enabled to pay off a Miss Ord to whom he was indebted in respect of his Chemist and Druggist business. Payment of this money was secured to the plaintiff by a mortgage of defendant's stock-in-trade and other assets of his business, and also by the transfer to him of a policy on defendant's life for £500. According to defendant, this note was reduced every three months and sometimes plaintiff advanced the cash to enable him to do this. This course of dealing continued until about November, 1903, when the business was converted into a company and plaintiff became a shareholder to the extent of $500 paying this amount in cash.

The defendant says that he was not satisfied with the working of his business as a Company and that he arranged with the help of the plaintiff to pay off the shareholders. This was about November, 1905, within two years of the formation of the Company. During its existence, no further payment was made by defendant, but plaintiff states that by November, 1905, the note had been reduced to $350, and that defendant owed him then $972.74 which defendant admits may have been the case. The help referred to by defendant was that plaintiff endorsed his note for $4,000 ($1,000 of which was for the plaintiff's own accommodation) and the balance of $3,000 was used by defendant to pay the shareholders their capital and interest thereon at 6 per cent. for two years. This absorbed about $2,000 and the balance paid off plaintiff's debt of $972.74. The result being that plaintiff in addition to this amount received $500 with interest, as a shareholder, this being the amount paid by him for his shares in the Company. The arrangement was that defendant should pay quarterly $210 to plaintiff on account of his $3,000 interest in the note for $4,000, but not unfrequently he failed to do this and the plaintiff advanced it for him. On 20th September, 1907, a note for $2,740 became due at the Colonial Bank and renewal thereof being refused, the plaintiff had to take it up. $1,000 of this sum was the original amount for plaintiff's own accommodation and the balance of $1,740 represented the balance due to Colonial Bank on account of the $3,000 for defendant's accommodation. On the same day plaintiff endorsed a note for $2,000 drawn by defendant which was discounted by him at the British Guiana Bank and $1,850 was paid to plaintiff as appears by the accounts (A) under date 20th September, 1907. The previous entry thereto is the debit of $1,740 paid to Colonial Bank by plaintiff for defendant, this being his portion of the note for $2,740.

This $2,000 note was a new note given solely for the accommodation of defendant. The account dated 23rd September, 1907, shows a balance due by defendant of $27.93 which was paid. Thus closing the account up to that date. The defendant says that so long as a note was discounted at the Colonial Bank, this was done by plaintiff to whom it was debited at maturity—he then gave plaintiff a new note—when, however, the notes were discounted at the British Guiana Bank, defendant would take the note there himself—at this time plaintiff had no account at the latter Bank. This note for $2,000 was regularly reduced by $200 paid by defendant or advanced to him by plaintiff for that purpose until it stood at $1,400 for which amount it became due about 30th September, 1908. It would seem that from the conversion of the business into a Company in 1903, plaintiff had held no mortgage over the stock-in-trade or assets of the business. About this time (Sept., 1908), defendant's condition of health rendered it necessary that he should go to Canada and instead of the note for $1,400 being reduced, plaintiff at his request agreed to endorse a new one for $2,500 to enable him to leave the colony thus increasing his liability by $1,100. Defendant left Dr. Wharton as his attorney and on 5th December, 1908, a mortgage of his stock-in-trade and assets was passed in favour of the plaintiff, defendant having already assigned to plaintiff two policies of Assurance of £500 each on his life with the Standard Company of which the plaintiff is local agent, the second policy was required to be effected by the plaintiff as collateral security for the debt. Quarterly payments were made on account of this $2,500 note by defendant either from moneys of his own or by loans obtained from plaintiff until the note at the British Guiana Bank stood at $900. Accounts were rendered to defendant at irregular intervals and no objection was raised thereto until that of 30th June, 1910 (rendered on 21st October, 1910) was received. This showed a balance due to plaintiff of $1,103.04 for which a promissory note was given which is the subject matter of the present action. At this time there was in the defendant's employ as clerk one Burgess (formerly a solicitor) who drew defendant's attention to certain charges and on the same day defendant wrote to plaintiff saying that the first item $503.53 was not correct. This $503.53 was brought forward from previous account of 30th June, 1909, rendered on 26th August, 1909. Objection was also taken in this letter to charges for interest. As a result of this letter on the same day an interview took place at plaintiff's Chambers when according to defendant he went into the private office and plaintiff said that he would not have the account questioned and that he must give him a note for the $1,103, that he does not remember objecting to the account but that he objected to the two notes being put together, he subsequently adds that plaintiff said it would be a serious thing for him if he did not sign the note and that he would not put up with any nonsense. In cross-examination he states that they discussed this account some five to ten minutes, that plaintiff never went through any account then or at any time and he adds: "I mean by 'discussed' that I told him I would be 'ruined if I had to pay his account. I was asked by plaintiff to include all in one note' (this refers to giving one note to include the account $1,103.04 as well as the note for $900 then falling due he continues: "I begged not to, but consented to two separate notes." These two notes were endorsed by plaintiff and left with his clerk. The defendant inclines to the belief that he signed and left the $900 note with plaintiff's clerk, took away the one for $1,103.04 unsigned, but as he believes that he took this $900 note as usual to the bank himself in order to take up the one due on 22nd October, which was the following day I am satisfied that he is mistaken, any doubt on the point is set at rest by his admission that he sent his clerk Burgess on the 22nd to plaintiff to obtain payment of his account for medicine supplied as the cash was required by him to pay the discount on the $900 note. Defendant says that he asked to make the $1,103.04 note payable in six weeks as he expected money by that time and would be able to make a payment on account. Having considered the matter at home he signed and returned this note on the following morning. On the 3rd and 4th November, defendant having arranged with Mr. Peppiette to advance the sums necessary to meet the two notes, writes to the plaintiff with reference to the note for $1,103.04 thus "which to 'save myself from ruin I was compelled to sign but 'certain of the items of which account I, at the 'time, and have ever since disputed, I have on 'perusing the mortgage deed between us, as I told you 'before, found your account to be quite wrong", and with reference to the transfer he writes: "I have 'completed my arrangement for your substitution 'in the mortgage." "I am willing to wait upon you 'for a reasonable time for you to render proper 'accounts against me and to pay me 'what moneys have been claimed by you in excess of 'my true indebtedness to you." Following on this a day was fixed for the transfer of the mortgage, 21st November, 1910, but it was not carried out owing to defendant refusing to pay plaintiff's further account for $97.28 said to be due to that date.

As to the accounts, defendant says that they were rendered regularly to him, that he took no notice of the charges, but always looked at the balance due. It is clear that on 23rd September, 1907, the account then rendered showed a balance due of $27.93 which he says he believed he paid. No doubt this balance was paid and the defendant's intimate knowledge as to the promissory note for $2,000 which brought about this balance, shows that on receiving this account, he looked at something more than the balance due.

The next account rendered was that to 30th June, 1908, and it contains a charge of 2½ per cent. for endorsing two notes, one for $1,600 on 24th March, and the other for $1,400 on 27th June, 1908. These two charges follow each other and are the two last items in the account. It was impossible to have looked at the balance without seeing them. No objection, however, is taken to these. The next account rendered is that of 10th October, 1908, which plaintiff says he showed defendant and that he went through it. This was on the eve of his departure for Canada, and defendant says that he will not swear it was not shown to him. Following this on 26th August, 1909, an account was rendered to 30th June, 1909. This Court is satisfied that defendant must have been aware of the charges made in these accounts and that he never raised any objection to them.

We come now to the last account objected to by the defendant on 21st October, 1910. His reference as to what passed at the interview which followed his letter, contains nothing which warrants the statement in his next letter (3rd November, 1910) that he at the time of signing the note and ever since had disputed certain items of the account. On the contrary he states that he raised no objection to signing the note and moreover he took it away, signed it at home, and sent it to plaintiff next morning. At that time he had with him the new note for $900 already endorsed by plaintiff and payable in three months so that he had that period of time during which it was not in the power of plaintiff to foreclose the mortgage if even he was so disposed. It was as a matter of fact during the running of this note that he made arrangements to pay off the plaintiff. It is impossible on these facts to find that the note was signed under protest. By his own conduct the Court is forced to the conclusion that he waived any objection raised by his letter of 21st October, and accepted the account as correct. It seems that having signed the note and subsequently made arrangements to raise the money on easier terms he writes the letter of 3rd November at the suggestion of Burgess. That this is so is shown by his admission in cross-examination when he says "Burgess put the idea into my head of disputing the note. I acted under his advice."

By the mortgage already referred to of 5th December, 1908, the defendant bound himself to pay the note of $2,500 dated 30th September, 1908, to the mortgagee or the other holder thereof at maturity, and if the same should not then be paid in full to pay as aforesaid the amount of any renewal or part renewal thereof and in case the said promissory note or any renewal or part renewal thereof should at any time be overdue and unpaid to pay to the mortgagee interest at the rate of ten per centum per annum from the due date on the amount from time to time unpaid.

In the next paragraph the defendant bound himself to pay on demand any such further or other sum or sums as may hereafter be due and owing by him to the mortgagee on the balance of a current account between them or otherwise howsoever with interest at the rate aforesaid, then follows a proviso that the principal amount shall not at any time exceed $5,000.

This mortgage cannot be regarded as retrospective but is binding with regard to any charges coming within its provisions from the date of its execution. There is no provision that compels the plaintiff to renew wholly or in part or to find the money or any portion thereof for such renewal as was frequently done by the plaintiff—but there is provision that on the original note or any renewal or part renewal thereof not being paid at maturity the plaintiff is to be paid 10 per cent. per annum on the amount unpaid. As lender he would be compelled to take up the note hence this provision. This condition of things has not arisen owing to the plaintiff having always found the money for part renewal when defendant could not pay. Such advances would be charged to defendant and come into the current account on which the mortgage provides that interest at ten per cent. shall be paid. It is contended that the legal charges cannot form part of the current account and therefore 10 per cent. cannot be charged thereon. The words of the mortgage seem, however, to cover such charges, as in addition to current account it allows 10 per cent. to be charged on any sum due "otherwise howsoever."

There is no plea raised on the pleadings as to a total or partial failure of consideration. The Court is asked to set off against plaintiff's claim certain items in the accounts which are included in this note of $1,103.04 on the ground that defendant never agreed to pay and is not liable to pay them. What these would amount to is an unknown quantity and would depend on this Court's view as to these items. A liquidated demand is when the amount is a matter only of calculation to be made from fixed data, so that any two people making it correctly must arrive at the same result. It is unliquidated when the amount is a matter of assessment, to be formed from the circumstances of the case and the opinion of the assessor, so that any two people making it might arrive at different results. The amount now sought to be set off is clearly unascertained and unliquidated and is therefore no defence in the present action.

Under these circumstances it might be regarded as unnecessary to deal with the objections but as they have been fully gone into in Court it is as well to deal with the schedules seriatim.

Schedule A.—These are objected to on the ground that defendant never agreed to pay them.

With the exception of the last item they consist of legal charges. Defendant says 10 per cent. was to be paid on debts collected. This is denied by plaintiff who alleges that similar charges to those now made have been made since 1902, and that he had pointed out to defendant that the costs incurred came to about 50 per cent. of the amount collected. A charge of $1 cannot be regarded as high for writing a letter of demand which included subsequent interviews with the debtor, nor $1.50 to $3 for the conduct of a suit from beginning to end. The charge of $5 in the suit of Holder is explained by the fact that it was on hand for months. $3 does seem, however, to have been charged a second time in error in the suit of J. L. Blank. These objections amount to $48.50 and occur between October, 1907, and December, 1908. As to the last item $52 for "several consultations with Dr. Wharton," this witness says that he had to confer on several occasions with plaintiff about defendant's business when pressed by creditors and that the manager of the business also saw him and that he (the witness) once saw plaintiff on legal business. It is difficult to value the work actually done by plaintiff, but the amount charged seems high and the Court is disposed to think that $30 would have been sufficient. The difference of $22 in this item and $3 charged in error would show $25 to be overcharged.

Schedule B.—Objected to as defendant never agreed to pay them and not payable under the mortgage.

Commission is charged on note of 21st December, 1907, for $1,800 at 1½% = $27; on note of 30th September, 1908, for $2,500 at 1½% = $37.50; on note of 2nd January, 1909, for $2,200 at 2½% = $55.25; on note of 5th April, 1909, for $2,000 at 1½% = $30; on note of 8th July, 1909, for $1,850 at 1½% = $27.75; on note of 11th October, 1909, for $1,700 at 1½% = $25.50; on note of 14th January, 1910, for $1,500 at 2½% = $37.50; on note of 16th April, 1910, for $1,300 at 2½% = $32.50. The plaintiff says that he always charged 1½ per cent. when defendant paid the instalment by which the note was reduced—this was equal to 6 per cent. on the face value of the note—but that when he (plaintiff) found it he charged 2½ per cent. equal to 10 per cent. This extra 1 per cent. was charged on the face value of the note. This charge of 1½% seems fair and reasonable and there is nothing in the mortgage to preclude such a charge, it became a sum due and owing on which 10% could be charged thereunder. The extra 1% however, is interest on temporary loans and as they are subsequent to the mortgage only 10% ought to be charged so long as they remained due and owing. This extra 1% amounts to $50.00, whereas interest at 10% on same equals $1.19, showing an overcharge of $48.71.

The interest or fees charged on four temporary loans of $100, $80, $120 and $80, to settle overdrafts at bank, that is 5% on principal is $19. Mr. Heald, chartered accountant, says that on the first loan this would work out at 60% per month or 365% per annum. This may be so but a fee charged under certain circumstances although high cannot be regarded as charging interest at the rate suggested. The first three charges were prior to the mortgage. Of these the first two were repaid within the week but the third was merged into the current account. The fourth was subsequent to the mortgage and only liable to 10% thereunder. The plaintiff says that 5% was charged regardless of the length of time for which it was borrowed. That this is so is shown by the two last loans apparently not having been returned, but merged in the current account which on 31st December, 1908, stood in debit $450.35 on which 10 per cent. per annum was charged as from that date.

The Court thinks that a charge of 10 per cent. as provided by the mortgage would have been a proper charge for small loans prior thereto. This would work out at $2.03 instead of $19, a difference of $16.97. This charge of 10 per cent. is made on the $500 loan of January, 1910, which is also objected to in this schedule. The mortgage provides this rate of interest which is clearly legal.

The three remaining objections relate to interest charged at end of half-year on the balance found to be due at end of previous half-year. This has been called compound interest and so it seems to be as to the last two half-years but as to the first half-year balance of $450.35 on which this charge is made it does not include compound interest.

There being no provision in the mortgage for payment of compound interest the total amount of $74.24 should be reduced by $2.31 being the amount charged as such under this Schedule therefore the total which might be regarded as over-charged is $68.99.

Schedule C.—Objected to as defendant did not agree to pay and plaintiff not entitled to charge the same.

This consists of legal charges of which full particulars are given and the total amount is $54.25. No evidence has been adduced to show that they are excessive and it is clear that this work has been done. To the Court they appear in most cases to be moderate and therefore right and proper.

Schedule D.—Objected to as defendant is not liable to pay, the plaintiff not acting in his behalf. This contains two objections, (a) as to a charge of $5 in reference to a claim of Messrs. Robinson & Sons, Ltd., of London. It seems that this firm wrote to defendant who referred them to plaintiff and that he after hearing from them interviewed defendant and after looking through his previous correspondence with them wrote explaining the matter. The Court regards this as properly charged to defendant: (b) as to $25 for work done, the defendant admits that this work was done and that the charge would not be too much if done at his request. It does not make the least difference who the proposed purchaser was, but it is clear that defendant knew there was such a person and that he allowed plaintiff to get information from his books and that he acted on the advice so obtained.

Schedule E.—The objection herein is waived by defendant's counsel.

The total which the Court therefore would have been disposed to disallow is $93.99 on the whole account.

Although in the instances referred to plaintiff's charges may have been high or unwarranted he has been rightly described by the defendant himself as more than good and kind to him and as one to whom he looked in all his difficulties. The result of defendant so looking to plaintiff has been that he has converted into a healthy condition a business which in 1908 was so bad (to use his own word) that his attorney says he advised the plaintiff not to make further advances until a mortgage was executed. In the face of this evidence it is not easy to account for the attack made by counsel on the plaintiff which in the opinion of the Court is not warranted on a careful survey of the facts of the case.

The question of costs remains to be considered. In the opinion of this Court plaintiff has charged in his accounts about $56 more than he was entitled to charge under the mortgage. There is not, nor could there be, any suggestion that such charges were made fraudulently. Is this sufficient to disentitle him to the costs of his action? In ordinary cases under the circumstances detailed in the course of this decision it might not be so regarded but looking to the position of the parties—client and legal adviser—costs will not be allowed.

Judgment for plaintiff for $1,103.04 with interest as claimed.

Georgetown—commencing on Monday, 18th December, 1911, and continued on following days. Part II.

2. The following Teachers are invited to attend these Lectures, and will be repaid their travelling expenses as laid down in paragraph 4 of the notice :—(a) Teachers who have not yet attended a course of Lectures in these subjects ; (b) Teachers who have already attended a previous course, and who, though failing to qualify for a certificate at the examination, have obtained not less than 25 per cent. of marks, provided they have not attended more than two previous courses ; (c) Teachers who have already obtained certificates of the II or III Class in these subjects ; (d) Pupil Teachers, who are required to attend in accordance with Regulation 102 of the Code of 1904. Other Teachers may attend, if they desire to do so, but at their own expense.

3. Teachers and Pupil Teachers will be required to attend the Courses regularly and punctually and to present themselves for examination in January and February, 1912.

4. Teachers who attend the Lectures regularly will be repaid their second-class railway fares and steamer expenses. Those whose schools are situated at places where no public conveyances are available will be repaid their travelling expenses at the rate of five cents per mile, provided vouchers for this expenditure are produced. In cases where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Inspector of Schools that the cost, necessarily incurred exceeds five cent per mile, rates not exceeding eight cents per mile may be allowed. Those whose Schools are 10 miles and over from the Lecture room and cannot return home the same day, may be allowed, in addition, a personal allowance of 48 cents for every 24 hours they are absent from home. In cases where the actual travelling expenses would amount to more than 50 cents per day, the Inspector reserves to himself the right of offering instead the alimentary allowance of 48 cents plus the actual expenses of the initial and final journeys to and from the Lecture room. Teachers are required to attend the centre which incurs the least expense to Government.

5. The courses of Lectures hitherto held in Essequibo are discontinued. Teachers resident in Essequibo desiring to attend these Lectures will therefore attend at the Demerara centre. Teachers resident in outlying districts either in Demerara and Essequibo, who were formerly debarred from attending the courses of weekly lectures given in Georgetown, may now have an opportunity of attending these daily lectures, as their attendance would now, under the new arrangement, necessitate fewer journeys to town than formerly.

6. Intending applicants for cards of admission to these Lectures (whose schools are situated where no public conveyances are available) are requested to state in their applications the following particulars, namely ;

- (a.) The rate per mile of travelling expenses to be incurred and the distance one way.
- (b.) If any rate exceed 5 cents the special circumstances relied upon to justify such excess.
- (c.) If a school is situated 10 miles and over from the Lecture room, whether it is or is not possible for the attendant to return home the same day.
- (d.) The circumstances in which exemption is claimed from the liability of the attendant to pay his own expenses.

7. Detailed accounts of the travelling expenses must be sent to the Director of Science and Agriculture at the end of each Part of the Lectures.

8. Teachers and Pupil Teachers resident in Berbice wishing to attend these Lectures must apply not later than Wednesday, 15th March, 1911, and those resident in Demerara and Essequibo not later than Wednesday, 19th July.

9. The Managers of Schools are requested to be good enough to give every facility to their Teachers and Pupil Teachers to attend these Lectures either by giving them leave of absence under Rule 25 of the Code, or by suitable changes of the Easter and August vacations as provided under Rule 24.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 9TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

SMART-DALGLEISH & Co., LTD.
versus

A. F. CHAPMAN.

This is an appeal from the taxing of costs by the taxing officer who dealt with the costs under the lower scale.

It seems that a specially indorsed writ was issued for the recovery of the possession of that portion of the plaintiff company's premises situate at lot 48, Water Street, let to the defendant at a rental of $30 a month.

On an objection that the action could not be brought in the form of a specially indorsed writ Hawtayne, acting J., held that the objection was good and struck out the writ with costs.

No question was raised as to the effect of this decision nor was it appealed from. The sole question so far as the present appeal is concerned is whether the costs awarded by the acting Judge should be taxed on the higher or the lower scale.

The taxing officer has taxed the costs under appendix 1 part 1, (c) of our Rules of Court which is headed as follows:—

Costs chargeable by solicitor or counsel in actions in which the amount claimed or the value of the property in respect of which the action is brought does not exceed $250.

It is argued for the appellant (the defendant in the Court below) that it must be patent on the face of the proceedings that the part of the premises rented to the said defendant at a rental of $30 per month exceeds in value $250, as it was not a rental for a particular occasion but for continuous use for the purpose of defendants' business which had been carried on in same for several months and that moreover $50 were claimed as costs.

For the respondent it was urged that there was no proof of the value and that the costs claimed were $50 or such sum as might be allowed.

The fact that $30 is the rental to my mind certainly is good ground for assuming that the value of the premises, possession of which is claimed, does exceed $250 which sum, if taken as the value, would not be nine months rent, certainly a very small valuation, although in such a place as Water Street which is the great business thoroughfare of the city rents would probably be higher than in less important parts, values of properties so situated would, however, also be higher.

With regard to the amount of costs claimed it was a kind of alternative claim and proves nothing.

Taking the costs awarded to be the general costs in the action as they are, no limitation being made, I certainly think they should be taxed on the higher scale although there was no adjudication on the merits, hence no finding by the Judge. (Archer v. Britton, 22.3.06). The claim was not for a sum of money but for possession of premises, such premises being clearly of a value exceeding $250 taking the rent stated as a basis for valuation.

I, therefore, allow the appeal and direct the taxing officer to tax the costs on the higher scale.

I allow the appellant $5 as the costs of this appeal.

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 17TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

MAHABALE & ANOR., Appellants.

versus

BERESFORD, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction for having feloniously stolen eleven bags of paddy value $20.56, the property of A. J. McConnell and others.

The substantial grounds of appeal are (1) that there is no evidence that the paddy so alleged to have been stolen by appellants was the property of the respondent's principals—that is A. J. McConnell and others, and (2) that there was not sufficient or satisfactory evidence to warrant a conviction on the merits.

Reason 1.—It is argued by counsel that the evidence of the complainant shows the bags of paddy to be the property of Booker Bros., McConnell & Co., Limited, and that the ownership should have been so laid. No certificate of incorporation as a company is laid over and the case of R. v. Laughton is relied on as showing this to be unnecessary. In that case it was held that parol evidence to the effect that the company—whose money the prisoner was charged with obtaining by false pretences, carried on business as an incorporated company was sufficient to support the indictment. In the present case there is no evidence that Booker Bros., McConnell & Co., Limited, is an incorporated company or that they carried on business as such. The only evidence is that there is such a firm of which A. J. McConnell is a partner. See R. v. Frankland (32 L.J., (M.C.) 69), where in the absence of evidence of incorporation it was held by the Court of Crown Cases Reserved on a charge of embezzlement that the prisoner was properly alleged in the indictment to be the servant of A and others.

Reason 2.—This Court will not interfere with the finding of the Magistrate on a question of fact, where there is evidence which, if the Magistrate believed it, would justify him in so finding. The evidence for the prosecution connects both the appellants with the larceny of the paddy and the decision of the Magistrate must be confirmed.

Appeal dismissed with costs.

M. J. BERKELEY, J.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 9TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

SMART-DALGLEISH & Co., Ltd.

VERSUS

A. F. CHAPMAN.

This is an appeal from the taxing of costs by the taxing officer who dealt with the costs under the lower scale.

It seems that a specially indorsed writ was issued for the recovery of the possession of that portion of the plaintiff company's premises situate at lot 48, Water Street, let to the defendant at a rental of $30 a month.

On an objection that the action could not be brought in the form of a specially indorsed writ Hawtayne, acting J., held that the objection was good and struck out the writ with costs.

No question was raised as to the effect of this decision nor was it appealed from. The sole question so far as the present appeal is concerned is whether the costs awarded by the acting Judge should be taxed on the higher or the lower scale.

The taxing officer has taxed the costs under appendix 1 part 1, (c) of our Rules of Court which is headed as follows:—

Costs chargeable by solicitor or counsel in actions in which the amount claimed or the value of the property in respect of which the action is brought does not exceed $250.

It is argued for the appellant (the defendant in the Court below) that it must be patent on the face of the proceedings that the part of the premises rented to the said defendant at a rental of $30 per month exceeds in value $250, as it was not a rental for a particular occasion but for continuous use for the purpose of defendants' business which had been carried on in same for several months and that moreover $50 were claimed as costs.

For the respondent it was urged that there was no proof of the value and that the costs claimed were $50 or such sum as might be allowed.

The fact that $30 is the rental to my mind certainly is good ground for assuming that the value of the premises, possession of which is claimed, does exceed $250 which sum, if taken as the value, would not be nine months rent, certainly a very small valuation, although in such a place as Water Street which is the great business thoroughfare of the city rents would probably be higher than in less important parts, values of properties so situated would, however, also be higher.

With regard to the amount of costs claimed it was a kind of alternative claim and proves nothing.

Taking the costs awarded to be the general costs in the action as they are, no limitation being made, I certainly think they should be taxed on the higher scale although there was no adjudication on the merits, hence no finding by the Judge. (Archer v. Britton, 22.3.06). The claim was not for a sum of money but for possession of premises, such premises being clearly of a value exceeding $250 taking the rent stated as a basis for valuation.

I, therefore, allow the appeal and direct the taxing officer to tax the costs on the higher scale.

I allow the appellant $5 as the costs of this appeal.

JOHN E. HAWICK, J.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 17TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

MAHABALE & ANOR., Appellants.

VERSUS

BERESFORD, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction for having feloniously stolen eleven bags of paddy value $20.56, the property of A. J. McConnell and others.

The substantial grounds of appeal are (1) that there is no evidence that the paddy so alleged to have been stolen by appellants was the property of the respondent's principals—that is A. J. McConnell and others, and (2) that there was not sufficient or satisfactory evidence to warrant a conviction on the merits.

Reason 1.—It is argued by counsel that the evidence of the complainant shows the bags of paddy to be the property of Booker Bros., McConnell & Co., Limited, and that the ownership should have been so laid. No certificate of incorporation as a company is laid over and the case of R. v. Laughton is relied on as showing this to be unnecessary. In that case it was held that parol evidence to the effect that the company—whose moneys the prisoner was charged with obtaining by false pretences, carried on business as an incorporated company was sufficient to support the indictment. In the present case there is no evidence that Booker Bros., McConnell & Co., Limited, is an incorporated company or that they carried on business as such. The only evidence is that there is such a firm of which A. J. McConnell is a partner. See R. v. Frankland (32 L.J., (M.C.) 69), where in the absence of evidence of incorporation it was held by the Court of Crown Cases Reserved on a charge of embezzlement that the prisoner was properly alleged in the indictment to be the servant of A and others.

Reason 2.—This Court will not interfere with the finding of the Magistrate on a question of fact, where there is evidence which, if the Magistrate believed it, would justify him in so finding. The evidence for the prosecution connects both the appellants with the larceny of the paddy and the decision of the Magistrate must be confirmed.

Appeal dismissed with costs.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

THIS 18TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

In re Petition JULY versus BELMONTE.

The petitioner applies to the Court to exercise its General Summary Jurisdiction over Solicitors as officers of the Court by ordering Mr. B. E. J. C. Belmonte to pay to her certain moneys which (it is alleged) he has received for her as a Solicitor.

It is not contested that Mr. Belmonte from time to time received from the petitioner various sums of money for the purpose of making specific loans on her behalf: that the borrowers gave the petitioner promissory notes payable three months after date or on demand (under agreement that no demand should be made for three months); and that the amounts for which such notes were given included in each case, in addition to the sum lent, a fixed sum as interest for the three months, the interest represented by these fixed sums in the several cases not being at the same rate but varying from 66 $\frac{1}{2}$ % to 83 $\frac{1}{2}$ % per annum.

The first question for decision is whether (as alleged in the petition) the reporter received these several sums as Solicitor for unless he received them in that capacity, the matter cannot be dealt with summarily on petition, but the petitioner must be referred to the ordinary legal remedy, an action for accounts.

It is within the ordinary business of a Solicitor to receive money from a client for a specific investment (Dundonald v. Masterman, 7 Eq. at p. 515), and it appears from the evidence that in each instance a loan was made the particulars were communicated to the petitioner before she gave the reporter the money. Also the reporter (para. 7 of his report) states the agreement between him and the petitioner as to the business of making loans for her and (among other things) says he was "to collect for the petitioner out of Court or through the Court" the pro. notes when they became due at a nominal charge of 2% commission on the capital sum advanced by the petitioner on such notes. The agreement therefore was one for (inter alia) work to be done by the reporter in his professional capacity and the case is, I think, within the principle laid down in re Executors of Aitken (4 B. and Ald. 47) and in re Knight (1 Bing. 91). Hence the petition cannot be struck out on the ground that the matter is not one within the Court's Summary Jurisdiction.

The petitioner alleges that, in addition to two sums paid the reporter to be loaned to one Hoogvliet, she on the dates now to be mentioned gave the reporter the following sums, viz.:—

(1.) On the 11th January, 1910, $300 to be lent to P. J. Willems on the security of his and the reporter's joint and several promissory note for $350.

(2.) On the 3rd February, 1910, $100 to be lent to Doman on the security of his promissory note for $120.

(3.) On the 2nd May, 1910, $220 to be lent Lam on the security of his promissory note for $250.

(4.) On the last mentioned date, $240 to be lent J. B. Alexander on the security of his promissory note for $290.

(5.) On the 12th May, 1910, $100 to be advanced to J. P. Allt on the security of his promissory note for $120.

The receipt of the said five capital sums from the petitioner herself (save $60 said to have been received from Hoogvliet for her), and save the first mentioned, the receipt of them for the purpose stated, is admitted by the reporter, and the evidence shows that the several promissory notes to be given were duly made and delivered to the petitioner, who had them in her possession at the hearing of the petition. This being so, if no other facts were in evidence the petition could not be sustained, so far as those sums are concerned, as the evidence does not establish that the reporter agreed to warrant the security of the several loans or was otherwise liable to make good any loss sustained by the security proving insufficient.

Allt's promissory note of the 12th May, 1910, is in the petitioner's possession, and no order on the reporter in respect of the capital thereof can be made.

As to the three several notes of Doman, Lam and Alexander, it is contended that the evidence shows that these are fictitious documents, that there were no such borrowers, and that the capital sums said to have been lent to them respectively were in reality retained by the reporter for his own use. This is not, in my opinion, conclusively proved by the evidence, but the reporter by para. 12 of his report and in his evidence states that about the middle of June, 1910, he called in (whether at the petitioner's request or not is immaterial for the point now under consideration) these loans and received the capital sums lent. He is therefore bound to repay to the petitioner those sums, unless he can show that he has already repaid them or otherwise applied them with her consent. As to $400, part thereof, the reporter's account given in his report and evidence is that he paid that sum to a Frenchman at the petitioner's request, that petitioner said she owed some money to a Frenchman and another man working at the Match Factory, but when asked by him would not say for what or how much, saying only she would send them to him and they would explain and say how much and he must try to settle it as best he could, that the following day a Frenchman and a Scotchman, who gave their names as Louis Pollnot and Thomas Buchanan, came and said Mrs. July had sent them, but would not say what transactions there had been between her and them, that he told the Frenchman that he would send for him when he got in some moneys for the petitioner, that they subsequently came to his office on three occasions, he having in each instance previously written to the Frenchman and on those occasions he paid him sums aggregating $400 in full of all claims but took no receipts; that he sent his clerk to the petitioner to say he had settled with the Frenchman and two or three days afterwards she came to the reporter's office and thanked him for what he had done but said he had paid rather too much. In support of his account, the petitioner calls his clerk Blissoon, whose evidence is to the same effect and Mr. E. F. C. Belmonte, who, however, says only that one day in June he saw a Frenchman at the reporter's office, heard the Frenchman say something about Mme. July and saw the reporter give him a roll of notes. The reporter says he kept no books and the Court regards with suspicion such self-serving evidence on behalf of a Solicitor who keeps no books as is given by him and his clerk. The story that the reporter paid to persons, apparently previously unknown to him, who came saying they had been sent by the petitioner, large sums of money on behalf of the petitioner, not knowing in respect of what he was paying (though told by her that they would explain that) and that he took no receipts, is on the face of it improbable, and the petitioner in her evidence denies having asked the reporter to make any such payments or having sent any one to him for payment, or having been told by the reporter's clerk that the Frenchman had been paid or subsequently thanking him for settling the matter. I am not satisfied that the alleged payments on behalf of the petitioner were made by the reporter.

The reporter states in his report and evidence that (apart from $20 paid by Doman for renewal of his note) he received in all from Doman, Lam and Alexander $625, made up of the three sums of $100, $220 and $240, lent them, respectively, and of the three sums of $15, $25 and $25 paid by them, respectively, as interest, the several amounts included in the several notes as interest being reduced on account of the borrowers being required to repay the loans sooner than was originally or on extension of the period of payment agreed. The difference between the $625 received by him and the $400 already dealt with is said by the reporter to have been used by him with the full knowledge of the petitioner in making on the 22nd June, 1910, a second loan on behalf of the petitioner to one Hoogvliet, that loan being $240 and he (the reporter) advancing from his own moneys $15 to make up the required amount. That a second loan to Hoogvliet was then made, is proved, and on the evidence the moneys lent must have been obtained as the reporter states, unless moneys were then supplied by the petitioner. She, in her evidence, says she supplied the money for this loan, having obtained it from Mr. Humphrey's Pawnbroking Shop. From Mr. Humphrey's evidence, it appears that the petitioner received from him $200 only. The petitioner in her evidence says this was the only money she gave the reporter to make the loan and that the capital sum advanced to Hoogvliet was $200, $40 of the $230 for which he gave his promissory note being interest due on the promissory note given by him for the first loan made him. This evidence is inconsistent with the statements in her counter-report (para. 9) as to "$240" "cash money" having been given to the reporter to make the loan and with the pencil memo. of loans (L.) put in evidence by the petitioner where $240 is stated as the amount of the second loan to Hoogvliet. Also the sum $40 which is specified as interest then (i.e., 22nd June) due on Hoogvliet's first loan could not have then been due, if (as averred by the petitioner) Hoogvliet had already paid $60 to have his first promissory note for ($320 capital and $60 interest making) $380, which had become due on the 6th May, continued for a second period of three months. The petitioner's statement that she gave even the $200 to the reporter is uncorroborated, and I am not satisfied by the evidence that the money to make the second loan to Hoogvliet was given to the reporter by the petitioner, and think the reporter must be held to have accounted for $240 of the $625 received by him, a conclusion which is fortified by a comparison of the total amount shown by the evidence to have been available for investment by the petitioner and the total of the sums actually invested on promissory notes.

The two loans to Hoogvliet which have been mentioned do not, except incidentally, come within the scope of this petition. It is indeed averred that the reporter kept and used for his own benefit one-half of the moneys which were given him to lend to Hoogvliet, but in my opinion Hoogvliet's evidence is unreliable and it is not proved that the reporter had any part of those loans for the whole amount of which with interest Hoogvliet signed promissory notes drawn up by himself, and subsequently confessed judgment to the petitioner. Nor is any other ground shown for requiring the reporter to account for any part of the capital lent on those notes.

Of the five sums received by the reporter, as already mentioned, that of $300 given him on the 11th January, 1910, remains to be considered. The reporter alleges this was given as a loan to him and Willems, while the petitioner asserts that it was to be lent to Willems alone, and that she never knew till recently that the reporter had participated in that loan. It is admitted by the petitioner that a joint and several promissory note signed by Willems and the reporter was given her at the time the money was paid, and the evidence does not show any reason for the reporter's making himself liable for another man's debt or in my opinion prove the petitioner's allegation that the reporter signed the note as surety to make her position more secure. The fact that the petitioner accepted and endorsed Willems' cheque for renewal of the note, the amount of that cheque being $25 and not $50 per se supports the reporter's account of the matter, but the value of this fact is weakened by the undated letter (D) as to the date of which the evidence is conflicting. On consideration of all the evidence, including that of the meeting of the petitioner and Willems at the reporter's office and of the conversation between them, it is, I think, established that when the loan was made the petitioner knew that it was one to Willems and the reporter, or at any rate that on learning this subsequently she assented to what had been done. As far as the reporter's liability for his part of this loan is concerned, the matter in the absence of special circumstances would not, in my opinion, fall within the summary jurisdiction of the Court over Solicitors (Ex parte Schwalbanker 1 Dowl. 182, In re Bryant, 50 L.T. 450.) But in the present case the loan is one on a joint and several promissory note of the reporter and a third party: the reporter admits he has received such third party's share in the loan for re-payment to the petitioner and claims that he is entitled to set off against his own share in the loan the commissions to which he is entitled in respect of the several loan transactions. I think, therefore, this debt is so implicated with the other matters under investigation, as to be one which may and should be dealt with on this petition. The reporter admits receiving from Willems $175, in payment of Willems' share of the loan and interest, but alleges he paid this sum to the petitioner, who, however, denies this. The onus of proving payment lay the reporter and has not I think, been discharged. No written receipt is produced, and Willems' evidence shows that he was about to make his cheque for that amount payable to the petitioner or her order, but at the reporter's request made it payable to him, which would have been useless if the amount was to be at once handed over to the petitioner as the reporter says the proceeds of that cheque were and in face of these facts the Court cannot rely on the evidence of the reporter and his clerk that payment was made. The reporter therefore is liable to repay the petitioner this $175 as well as $150, the capital sum lent the reporter. The Court sees no sufficient reason for the high rate of interest (66½%) charged on that loan and will not enforce payment thereof but fixes the rate of interest for which the reporter is liable in respect of the said $150 at 6% from the date of the note.

It may be that in the case of the other loans already mentioned the Court, if asked to enforce payment by the borrowers of the sum included in the several promissory notes as interest, would have refused to do so, the rates of interest charged being prima facie excessive. But this does not exempt the reporter from liability to account for or pay over to the petitioner all sums he may have actually received on account of such interest. (Bridger v. Savage, L.R., 15 Q.B.D., 363.) The reporter admits the receipt of the following sums on account of interest in addition to those already mentioned as paid by Doman, Lam and Alexander:

- (1.) From Willems, $25.
- (2.) From Doman, $20.
- (3.) From Allt, $40, in two payments of $20 each.
- (4.) From Hoogvliet, $140, viz., two payments of $60 each and one of $20 described as "extra interest" when the second promissory note was given by him.

The petitioner admits the receipt of the two first of these sums, but denies receiving any other of them.

The petitioner's letter of the 28th April, 1910, in which she says she can give "no more than $400," corroborates the evidence of the reporter that, the first payment of $60 made by Hoogvliet formed part of the two loans aggregating $160 made to Lam and Alexander on the 2nd May, and the reporter is therefore held to have duly accounted for that sum of $60. As to the other sums the reporter has not, in my opinion, discharged the onus lying on him of proving they were paid to or for the petitioner and he therefore remains liable to pay the same.

The liability of the reporter, subject to any deduction which may have to be made for commission payable to him, is shewn by the foregoing to be as follows:—

A. In respect of capital—
(1). Repaid by Willems	$ 175 00
(2). Owng by reporter on pro. note 11th January, 1910...	150 00
(3). Rec'd from Doman, Lam and Alexander ($560 less $240 accounted for)	320 00
B. In respect of interest—
(1). Interest on $150 from date of pro. note 11th January, 1910, to 18th May, 1911, (1 year, 4 months, 8 days) ...	12 20
(2). Received from Allt	40 00
(3). Received from Hoogvliet..	80 00
(4). Received from Doman, Lam and Alexander	65 00
Total	$ 842 20

The question remains, to what commission is the reporter entitled. The reporter avers that the petitioner agreed to pay him 20 per cent. of the interest included in the promissory notes or subsequently paid to obtain an extension of the time for payment, and two per cent. on any capital sum collected out of Court or through the Court. On the other hand the petitioner in her petition says the reporter was to be paid only two per cent. on interest collected by him. Some doubt is thrown on this allegation by statements in the counter-report, and in the only case in which the petitioner in her evidence specifies a definite sum as paid to the reporter, the sum is 20 per cent. on the interest included in the note. The petitioner admits also in her evidence that commission was to be paid on interest paid to obtain extensions of time of payment at the same rate as on interest originally included in the notes. It is, I think, proved that the terms were as stated by the reporter. The reporter would therefore be entitled to the following sums as commissions.

A.—In respect of interest included in the promissory notes and on interest paid for renewals:
(1). Hoogvliet's two promissory notes (including two renewals of one)...	$ 48 00
(2). Lam's promissory note (on which interest was reduced)...	5 00
(3). Alexander's promissory note (on which interest was reduced) ...	5 00
(4). Doman's promissory note (on which interest was reduced) ...	3 00
(5). Allt's promissory note (including two renewals) ...	12 00
(6). Willems's share in promissory note (including one renewal) ...	10 00
(7). Reporter's share in promissory note interest whereon has been reduced to 6% per annum, and no renewal fee paid ...	0 45
B.—In respect of capital collected:
(1). From Lam, Alexander and Doman	11 20
(2). From Willems	3 00
	$ 97 65

The reporter is not entitled to any commission on the capital sum owing by him on his and Willems' promissory note as such capital cannot be regarded as collected by him. I am satisfied by the evidence that the reporter was paid his commission on Doman's obtaining a renewal of his note, and I see no reason for doubting the evidence that the reporter applied for and obtained from the petitioner $15 when about to initiate proceedings against Hoogvliet, whose debts to the petitioner have not been collected by the reporter. The evidence does not establish any indebtedness of the petitioner to the reporter in respect of the settlement of any claim by one Giles against the petitioner. No addition therefore in respect of any of these matters can be made to the sum $97.65: but the $10 paid reporter as commission in respect of his and Willems's promissory note must be deducted. I am not satisfied on the evidence that any sums for commission were paid the reporter save this and the sum paid in respect of Doman's.

The total sum owing by the reporter to the petitioner, after deduction of commissions, therefore is ($842.20 less $87.65, that is) $754.55. The Court orders that the reporter do pay that sum to the petitioner, and do also pay all such costs incurred by the petitioner for the attendance of Counsel on the hearing and in respect of the services of a solicitor as are prescribed by O. 1., r. 13, Pt. II of the Rules of Court, 1900, with all the petitioner's costs for the summoning and remuneration of witnesses.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 30TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

SCOTTS, LIMITED,
versus

SANDBACH, PARKER & COMPANY.

This is an application for an interim injunction to restrain the defendants against trespassing on the plaintiffs' land and the foreshore thereto, to wit, lot 45, Water Street, Robbstown, Georgetown, and either by themselves, their servants, workmen and agents and all others acting on their behalf from entering on the said lot 45, and the foreshore thereto, or from erecting or causing to be erected or continuing to erect a wooden or other bridge or structure of any kind in front of or across the stelling on the said lot 45, or from in any way interfering with or obstructing the plaintiffs' right of way and use and enjoyment or right to use and enjoy the said lot 45 and the foreshore thereto and from using any bridge or other structure of any kind which may have already been erected, built or constructed by the defendants on the said lot 45 and the foreshore thereto.

From the affidavits and documents put in, it appears that Scotts, Limited, are the leasees of all that piece of land known as lot 45, Water Street, Robbstown, with the buildings and erections thereon for the residue now to come and unexpired of a term of five years from the 1st day of January, 1909 (originally granted to Scott and Company, Limited, who surrendered it to the lessor).

One of the covenants of the lease is that the lessor shall at all times during the said term keep the said buildings in as good and tenantable repair, order and condition as they are now in provided always that this covenant shall not apply to the stelling and the buildings thereon which are in bad order and are not required for the purposes of the lessees' business or intended to be leased as a stelling and buildings or otherwise as they now stand.

This is only a covenant as to the repairs the lessor may be called on to do.

The lessee is to carry on or cause to be carried on in and upon the said demised premises or part thereof the trade or business of chemists and druggists or such other trade or business as will not affect the insurance existing thereon but shall not carry on or permit to be carried on any noxious, dangerous or offensive trade or business or practice and shall occupy and use the said premises in a good and tenantlike manner.

The defendants acquired the premises on both sides of lot 45, and on 11th March, 1911, leased the said lot 45 for a term of 99 years subject to the lease of the present plaintiffs and movers.

On the 23rd January, 1911, the defendants obtained a licence under the hand of the Governor to extend to the west the stelling situate at the waterside premises known as "Perot's," thirty feet beyond its north-end and twenty feet beyond its south-end as now existing.

On 31st March, 1911, a similar licence was obtained to extend to the west the stelling on lot 46, Robbstown, sixteen feet beyond its north-end and eleven feet beyond its south-end and including a span across lot 45, Robbstown, as now existing and shown on a plan, &c.

The defendants have begun work in connection with this span which although said to be of a permanent nature, and not denied, is alleged to be entirely outside lot 45 and therefore will not interfere with the conduct of plaintiffs' business.

The defendants also say they intend to leave a space between the piles forming the supports to the span across the front of lot 45 situated beyond low water-line sufficient to allow a full-sized punt to pass through to lot 45 at present occupied by the plaintiffs.

On the present motion I am only called on to decide (1) if the plaintiffs have such a cause of action that there is a probability of their being entitled to some relief and; (2) whether it would be just and convenient to grant an injunction.

I certainly think the plaintiffs have a prima facie case.

In the face of the allegation that there is to be a permanent structure across the front of lot 45 in which a space is intended to be left sufficient for a full-sized punt to pass through to lot 45, I am of opinion that the completion of such a permanent bridge ought to be stayed until the action for an injunction is heard. I do not consider the matter would be covered by damages alone.

I therefore grant the injunction asked for; it is not to be in the nature of a mandatory injunction, but one restraining from a continuation of the work already done until the action is heard and judgment given, or until further orders.

The costs of this motion is to be costs in the cause.

REFERRING to Government Notice No. 13 of the 10th January last, Major Henry Court Irving, Esquire, L.R.C.P., Edin., L.R.C.S., Government Medical Officer, has returned to the Colony from leave of absence, and assumed the charge of the Skeldon Medical District.

293. 6th June, 1911.

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following Circular despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies transmitting circular instructions issued by the Board of Trade with regard to an amendment in forms of ships' agreements in respect of the discipline regulations :

CIRCULAR.

Downing Street,
5th May, 1911.

Sir,—I have the honour to transmit to you, for information in the Colony under your government, the accompanying copies of circular instructions, which have been issued by the Board of Trade to officers in British Possessions with whom the Board corresponds in matters affecting Merchant Shipping, with regard to an amendment in forms of ships' agreements in respect of the discipline regulations.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient, humble servant,

L. HARCOURT.

The Officer Administering
the Government of British Guiana.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CONSULS, SUPERINTENDENTS, AND OFFICERS IN BRITISH POSSESSIONS ABROAD.

FORMS OF AGREEMENT. REGULATIONS FOR MAINTAINING DISCIPLINE.

In pursuance of Section 114 (2) (g) of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, the Board of Trade have sanctioned an additional regulation for maintaining discipline on board ships, which is as follows :—

No.	Offence.	Amount of Fine or Punishment.
6	Absence without leave (if not otherwise dealt with according to law) for each day on which such absence occurs. ...	Five Shillings.

The forms of ships' agreements will accordingly be amended by the addition of this regulation as reprints are required.

In order to avoid the destruction of the existing stock of these forms printed slips have been prepared which should be affixed to all forms in the possession of Superintendents, Consuls or Officers in British Possessions abroad.

For this purpose requisition should be made to the Storekeeper, Board of Trade Stores, Poplar E., for a supply of slips sufficient for the number of forms of agreement in hand, should the quantity forwarded herewith be found insufficient.

It should be observed that this regulation does not become part of the agreement unless it is adopted by the parties thereto, and embodied in the agreement by the insertion of the number (6) in the space provided for the purpose on page 1, at the time when the agreement is entered into by the master and crew.

Care should be taken to bring the new regulation to the notice of both parties.

H. LLEWELLYN SMITH,
Secretary.

WALTER J. HOWELL,
Assistant Secretary.

By Command,

CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

Judicial Notice.SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH

THE following appeal is fixed for hearing on

Registrar's Office of British Guiana, Georgetown,

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.*APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 30TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

WONG

versus

DA COSTA.

This is an appeal from the Magistrate of the East Coast Judicial District who in an action brought by the appellant against the respondent claiming the return of 400 rice bags or payment of their value ($40) with $10 as damages, non-suited the appellant with costs.

On the case being called Counsel for the appellant applied to supplement the notes of evidence by an affidavit as to the evidence alleged to have been given at the trial and not noted by the Magistrate.

There is no provision in the Ordinance for the filing of such affidavits and the Court will only in extreme cases where it is alleged that most material evidence has been omitted be disposed to allow such a procedure in order that if the Magistrate recollects such evidence, effect may be given to it. In no case, however, should such an application be entertained when the appellant, as in the present case, was represented by Counsel who could have asked the Magistrate to record the alleged material evidence which it is sought to put in by way of affidavit. The application was therefore refused.

The reasons of appeal are (1) that the decision is unwarranted by the evidence in like manner as if the case had been tried by a jury there would have been sufficient evidence to sustain the claim and (2) that it is erroneous in law.

Reason 1 is objected to by Counsel for the respondent inasmuch as it is not within the reason enumerated in section 9 of Ordinance 13 of 1893. With the omission of the word not it is word for word reason 8. It is clear that the Legislature by the terms of this reason did not intend it to apply to a plaintiff who desired to appeal but to a defendant on the ground of the insufficiency of the evidence, and to him only when there is a mere scintilla of evidence against him which would not have been sufficient to leave to a jury (Rodrigues v. Paton, 19.12.1898, and Santos & Co. v. Nunes, 23.3.1902).

Reason 2. It is argued that respondent having, according to the evidence, admitted the possession of 400 bags cannot deny possession of that number.

The evidence shows that respondent purchased from appellant, through Messrs. Walter Bagot & Co., auctioneers, a piece of land with a rice mill and other buildings thereon and that a number of bags not sold therewith were left on the premises. The witness Pinheiro alleges that respondent said there were over 400 and that he must be paid $5 for keeping them. When however he returned with the $5 and counted the bags there were only 310, so he did not give the $5 but left the bags where they were stored.

He admits that respondent did not at any time refuse to give him these 310 bags. The witness Wong speaks of reckoning one pile of bags and finding 50 and in his opinion there were "roughly speaking" 600 bags. On this evidence the Magistrate found that it was not proved there were 400 bags and that there was no wrongful detention on the part of the respondent.

There is no evidence that these bags had been counted at any time before they were sent for and it cannot, in the opinion of the Court, be seriously contended that because what respondent believed to be over 400 turned out to be 310, he is estopped from denying that there were 400. The evidence of appellant's own witness shows that respondent never refused to give him these 310 and therefore there was no wrongful detention.

The appeal is dismissed and the decision of the Magistrate confirmed with costs.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 26TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

JOSEPH ALBERT SWAVING on behalf of himself and Hannah Elizabeth Swaving, Antoinetta Christabel Swaving, John Bernard Justice Swaving, Lodwick Stanley Swaving and Elie Augustus Philip Bender.

versus

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

The claim is, shortly, for the sum of $826.65 which is in the colony chest to the credit of the heirs of J. J. Swaving.

The present claimants allege that they are the sole surviving heirs of J. J. Swaving, otherwise known as Jan Jus. Swaving and give details of their relationship. In paragraph 8 of the statement of claim it is pleaded that by advertisement in the "Official Gazette" of British Guiana dated the 16th day of June, 1906, it was stated that there was the sum of $826.65, belonging to the estate of the said J. J. Swaving, deceased. This could only mean the J. J. Swaving through whom the plaintiff claim.

The defence denies serially all the allegations of the relationship and the condition of the parties putting the claimants to proof. But the paragraph referred to is not denied.

It was argued that paragraph 8 of the defence is sufficiently wide to cover this.

That paragraph is clearly a denial only of paragraphs 9, 10, 11 of the statement of claim which deal with the petition to the Governor and Executive Council and the proofs then laid over, it cannot be held to be a denial of paragraph 8 of the statement of claim which is therefore admitted.

The issue before the Court resolves itself into whether the plaintiffs are or are not the sole surviving heirs of J. J. Swaving.

From the evidence adduced it has been proved that John Justus Swaving or Jan Justus Swaving was married to Antoinetta Britton and had issue, two children, John Case and Anna Maria. The latter whose baptismal certificate is produced, was baptized on the 1st February, 1815, being registered as the child of Justus Swaving and Antoinetta Swaving. She married on 11th May, 1872, Bernard Christian Bender in community of property, had one child Edric Augustus Phillip (one of the claimants) and died in 1875 or 1876.

John Case Swaving, who was the elder child, married Elizabeth Josephine Kip on the 17th January, 1878. There were seven children born of this marriage. Five are alive and are the other claimants. Two are said to have died young. But whether married or unmarried or intestate is not proved. The word young may possibly have been intended to mean in infancy. Antoinetta Swaving after the death of her husband, which occurred apparently about the time of the birth of Anna Maria, married William Harris by whom she had one son, James, who lives at Fort Nassau. William Harris is said to be dead; James Harris is, undoubtedly, entitled to a share, his mother having died about seven years ago.

This being so, the claimants in the case are not the sole surviving heirs of J. J. Swaving. They have unquestionably proved that they are some of the heirs. But in the absence of better proof regarding the age at death of the two children of John Case Swaving and his wife Elizabeth Josephine, and the position taken up by Bernard Christian Bender himself, I am unable to fix any definite share for which I could give judgment.

It is to be regretted that these gaps occur, gaps which with a little trouble and foresight might have easily been filled.

During the hearing of the case reference was made incidentally to two estates, Hollandia and Zeelandia, but what connection there is between them and the money claimed was not shown. It was said that Antoinetta Swaving said these estates were hers. One of the claimants Anna or Hannah Elizabeth Swaving is said to be now living at Zeelandia.

Being unable to say that the plaintiffs have proved their case as stated, I must give judgment for the defendant, but without costs. (O. XXXV, R. II. O. XLVI, R. I).

In the event of its being necessary to bring another action, I give leave to do so. (O. XXXV, R. I).

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 26TH DAY OF MAY, 1911.

SAHADAT, Appellant,

versus

VYFHUIS GRANVILLE, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the decision of the Magistrate of the North Essequibo Judicial District who on a claim to 8 bags of paddy valued at $6 and 30 bags valued at $3.60 said to have been levied on at the instance of the respondent on a judgment obtained against one Mahilall, upheld the levy.

The reasons for appeal are very voluminous but it is not necessary to set them out in detail for they are all but one practically that the evidence did not support the decision.

The one exception is an allegation that the Magistrate acted maliciously, but the instances referred to of expressions used would not be, even if supported by proof, which was wanting, such as to constitute acting maliciously however indiscreet they may have been.

There was no proper proof of what was levied on and under what circumstances. Besides this the claim was for 8 bags of paddy and 30 bags, the respondent admitted a levy on 4 bags of paddy and 15 bags. The decision was "Uphold the levy" simply.

Under all the circumstances, I refer the case back to the Magistrate to re-hear.

Appellant to have costs of the appeal.

CHARLES T. COX,

THE QUARANTINE BILL, 1911.

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM.

The object of this Ordinance is to give effect to the requirements of the West Indian Inter-Colonial Sanitary Convention, 1904, consolidating the existing Quarantine provisions into a single Ordinance with such amendments as the legislative experience of the past seven years in this country and in the other colonies which have adopted the Convention has shown to be necessary. It repeals the Quarantine (Convention) Ordinance, 1908, and the Quarantine (Convention) Amendment Ordinance, 1910, but retains the Regulations now in force under the authority of the Quarantine Ordinance, 1905, (approved by the Governor and Court of Policy on 4th May and 29th June, 1908, respectively).

THE WEST INDIAN INTER-COLONIAL SANITARY CONVENTION, 1904.

1. The Quarantine Regulations annexed to the present Convention are adopted. The existing quarantine enactments and regulations in the Colonies adhering or acceding to this Convention shall be repealed by such Colonies so far as such enactments and regulations are repugnant to or inconsistent with this Convention and the Quarantine regulations annexed thereto.

2. Every Colony shall as soon as possible notify by telegram to the Colonies the first appearance within such Colony of recognized cases of infectious or contagious disease as defined in the Quarantine Regulations annexed to the present Convention. Such notification shall be accompanied or promptly followed by detailed information on the following points:—

- (1.) The Locality in which the disease has made its appearance.
- (2.) The date of its appearance, its source and the type which it presents.
- (3.) The known number of cases and deaths.
- (4.) In the case of plague, whether that disease or any unusual mortality has been observed among rats or mice in the locality.
- (5.) The measures adopted immediately upon the first appearance of the disease.

3. The notification and the particulars specified in article two shall be followed by a weekly telegram notifying the occurrence of all new cases and by information systematically furnished in such fashion as to ensure that the other Colonies be kept acquainted with the progress of the disease. This information shall be sent at least once a week, if practicable, and shall be as complete as possible. It shall, in particular, indicate the measures adopted with a view to checking the spread of the disease and shall specify what steps are being taken:—

- (1.) In the way of medical and sanitary inspection, isolation and disinfection;

- (2.) In the case of plague, to secure the destruction of rats ;
 - (3.) In the case of yellow fever, to secure the destruction of mosquitoes on and near infected premises ;
 - (4.) In the case of smallpox, to secure vaccination and re-vaccination ;
 - (5.) To prevent transmission of the disease to other Colonies.
4. Every Colony shall immediately inform any Colony within which there is an infected place as defined in the Quarantine Regulations annexed to the present Convention as to the measures which it is proposed to take against arrivals from that Colony or place ; and shall, in like manner, inform such Colony as to the modification or withdrawal of these measures. Similar information shall immediately be communicated to every Colony adhering to the Convention.
5. Every Colony shall before the thirty-first day of December, 1908, be provided with,
- (1.) A proper station for the isolation of the persons liable to observation under the Quarantine Regulations hereto annexed.
 - (2.) A proper building for the isolation and care of persons arriving suffering from, or who, while under observation or surveillance develop an infectious or contagious disease as defined in such Regulations. 6. Colonies which have not taken part in the present Conference or which have not given their adhesion to this Convention may accede to it at their request.
7. Whenever any infectious or contagious disease appears in any Country or Colony not a party to this Convention, the geographical position of which is such that the time occupied in the voyage by steamer between such Country or Colony and any Colony a party to this Convention, is less than ten days in the case of plague or cholera, twelve days in the case of smallpox, and eighteen days in the case of yellow fever, the latter Colony shall inform every other Colony within the Convention as to measures taken against arrivals from that Country or Colony.
8. The present Convention shall remain in force for five years from the date of the coming into operation of the confirmatory legislative enactments passed by the British West Indian Colonies which give their adhesion to this Convention. During that period no alteration or modification of this Convention or of the Quarantine Regulations annexed thereto shall be made without the consent of all the Colonies adhering or according thereto. It shall be renewed quinquennially, without formal extension, unless one of the adhering or acceding Colonies within six months before the expiration of the above-mentioned quinquennial period, has signified its intention of being no longer bound by the Convention or its desire that the Convention should be altered or modified.

THE SECOND SCHEDULE.

Section 3.

THE QUARANTINE REGULATIONS.

1. In these Regulations—

“ Health Officer ” means any duly qualified medical practitioner appointed or employed to act in the execution of these Regulations, or authorized to act for or assist him.

"Ship" includes vessel, boat or other floating craft

"Master" means the master, officer or other person for the time being in charge of any ship.

"Infectious or contagious disease" means cholera, plague, yellow fever and small pox, and shall not include typhus fever, enteric fever, cerebro-spinal fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, measles, whooping cough, chicken pox or dengue.

"Place" means any clearly defined portion of territory such as an Island, a port, a district, a parish, a town, or a village.

"Infected place" means any place where any infectious or contagious disease exists: Provided that a place should not be regarded as an infected place because of the existence thereof of imported cases of such disease or because of the occurrence of a single non-imported case.

"Infected ship," means a ship on board of which a case or cases of infectious or contagious disease are present or have occurred—

- (1.) In the case of plague within a period of ten days previous to the date of arrival of the ship;
- (2.) In the case of cholera within a period of seven days previous to the date of arrival of the ship;
- (3.) In the case of small-pox within a period of twelve days previous to such arrival and
- (4.) In the case of yellow fever within a period of eighteen days previous to such arrival.

"Suspected ship" means a ship on board of which a case or cases of infectious or contagious disease have occurred during the voyage or during the stay of such ship in the port of departure, but on board of which no fresh case has occurred.

- (1.) In the case of plague within a period of ten days previous to the date of arrival of the ship;
- (2.) In the case of cholera within a period of seven days previous to the date of arrival of the ship;
- (3.) In the case of small pox within a period of twelve days previous to such arrival; and
- (4.) In the case of yellow fever within a period of eighteen days previous to such arrival.

"Healthy Ship" means a ship which, although having come from an infected place, has had on board no death from, nor any case of, infectious or contagious disease, either before leaving the port of departure, or during the voyage, or on arrival.

"Observation" means isolation of passengers, either in a proper station provided for that purpose or on board ship prior to their obtaining free pratique. In the case of Yellow Fever, the sick of those under observation who develop a temperature exceeding 99.2° Fahrenheit must be effectively screened from mosquitoes.

"Surveillance" means that passengers are not isolated. They receive free pratique at once and are allowed to proceed to their place of destination (the proper authority of which must be informed of their arrival) there to undergo medical supervision. When the Health Officer is aware that while under such medical supervision they are leaving for another Country or Colony adhering to the Convention, he shall cause the fact to be entered on the Bill of Health of the vessel conveying them; when he does not become aware of such fact until after departure, he shall notify his Government who shall telegraph to the Government of the Country or Colony of destination at the expense of Country or Colony.

2. With a view to restricting the range of application of these Regulations, the measures therein specified shall be applied to arrivals not from all ports of clearance of a Country or Colony, but only to arrivals from such ports of clearance, if any, as, having regard to the nature and progress of the disease and to the extent and means of communication with the infected place, are likely in the opinion of the Health Officer to transmit the infectious or contagious disease with which such place is infected.

This limitation shall apply only if the Health Officer is satisfied that the Country or Colony in which the infected place is situate takes the measures necessary to prevent export of the rags, clothing and bedding referred to in Article fourteen, from that place, unless they shall have been previously disinfected and also takes measures necessary to check the spread of the disease.

3. A place shall cease to be regarded as infected if the Health Officer is satisfied that :—

(a.) There has been no new case of plague within ten days, of cholera within five days, of yellow fever within eighteen days, or of small pox within twelve days of the isolation, or of the death or recovery of the last case ;

(b.) Infected things have been disinfected or destroyed, and that in the case of plague, measures have been taken with a view to the destruction of rats in the infected locality, and, in the case of yellow fever, of mosquitoes on or near the infected premises.

4. Every infected or suspected ship and every ship arriving from an infected place shall be inspected as soon as possible after arrival by the Health Officer. The Health Officer may board any ship arriving in the waters of the Colony and inspect every person in the ship. He may, if he think proper, call for inspection of the ship's books and papers, and shall use every lawful means which may seem to him expedient for ascertaining the state of health of the persons on board and the sanitary condition of the ship.

The master of any ship, or any other person, shall answer truly, and, if required, in writing and on oath, all such questions put to him by, and give all such information to the Health Officer as may be necessary for any purpose of of these Regulations.

5. Infected ships shall be dealt with as follows :—

(a.) The sick shall as soon as possible be removed from the ship and isolated ;

(b.) The other persons on board shall be permitted to land and be kept under observation or subjected to surveillance. When observation is resorted to, the period shall not exceed ten days in the case of plague, five days in the case of cholera, six days in the case of yellow fever, and twelve days in the case of smallpox. When surveillance is resorted to, the period shall be the same as that of observation. In applying these measures, the date of the last case and the condition of the ship should be taken into account ;

(c.) Clothing and articles belonging to the passengers or crew which, in the opinion of the Health Officer, are infected, shall be disinfected or destroyed ;

(d.) Those parts of the ship that have been occupied by the sick shall be disinfected, and also such other parts of the ship as the Health Officer may regard as infected ;

(e.) In the case of plague, measures shall be taken, either before or after discharge of cargo, to secure the destruction of rats on board. This operation shall be commenced as soon and carried out with as little delay as possible, and its duration shall not in any case exceed forty-eight hours ;

(f.) In the case of yellow fever, measures shall be taken to secure the destruction of mosquitoes and their larvæ on board ;

(g.) In the case of cholera, the bilge water, after preliminary disinfection, shall be pumped out, and the drinking water on board may be replaced.

When such measures as the Health Officer may have deemed necessary, in accordance with the provisions of this Article, have been carried out, such ship shall immediately thereupon be admitted to pratique.

6. Suspected ships shall be dealt with as follows :—

(a.) The passengers and crew may be subjected to surveillance during a period which shall not exceed ten days in the case of plague, five days in the case of cholera, six days in the case of yellow fever, and twelve days in the case of smallpox. The period of surveillance shall date from the arrival of the ship ;

(b.) Paragraphs (c), (d) and (g) of Article five shall also apply to suspected ships; and the measures specified in paragraphs (e) and (f) should also be applied.

When such measures as the Health Officer may have deemed necessary, in accordance with the provisions of this Article, have been carried out, such ship shall immediately thereupon be admitted to free pratique.

7. Healthy ships shall be admitted to free pratique immediately on arrival, irrespective of the nature of their bill of health. They may, however, at the discretion of the Health Officer, be subjected to the measures specified in paragraphs (c), (e), (f) and (g) of Article five; and the passengers and crew may be subjected to surveillance which shall not exceed ten days in the case of plague, five days in the case of cholera, six days in the case of yellow fever, and twelve days in the case of smallpox. The period of surveillance shall date from the departure of the ship from the infected place. It is to be understood that the application of the measures specified in paragraph (c) of Article five can be justified only by special reasons and that those of paragraph (c) of Article five are not to be applied as a general rule. In those cases where the provisions of paragraph (c) of Article five are applied, the operation shall not in any case exceed twenty-four hours, and shall not interfere with the free circulation of passengers and crew between ship and shore.

8. If in a healthy ship the rats on board are found to be suffering from plague, the Health Officer shall visit the ship and measures shall be taken as in paragraphs (c) and (e) of Article five; the parts of the ship that the Health Officer may regard as infected shall be disinfected; and the passengers and crew may be subjected to surveillance which shall not exceed a period of ten days after arrival. If unusual mortality has been observed among the rats on a healthy ship, the Health Officer shall visit and a bacteriological examination of the rats shall, when practicable, be made as quickly as possible. If it is thought necessary to resort to measures of rat destruction, these shall be carried out as specified in paragraph (c) of Article five. Until all suspicion of plague is removed, the passengers and crew may be subjected to surveillance during the time specified in this Article in respect of ships on board of which rats are found to be suffering from plague.

9. Whenever the master, the shipowner, or the shipowner's agent shall so demand, the Health Officer of the port shall furnish him with a certificate that measures for the destruction of rats have been applied and specifying the reasons why they had been applied.

Passengers arriving by an infected vessel shall be entitled to a certificate from the Health Officer indicating the date of their arrival and the measures of which they and their baggage have been subjected.

10. Ships from an infected place which have been disinfected shall not again be subjected to sanitary measures on their arrival in another port, if in the opinion of the Health Officer of such port, the measures applied were effective, unless a fresh case of infectious or contagious disease had occurred on board since disinfection, or unless they have again called at an infected place. A ship shall not be regarded as having called at a place if it has merely disembarked passengers and their baggage or mails, without having been in communication with the shore.

11. Where a ship has passengers on board who are in a filthy or otherwise unwholesome condition, or is overcrowded with passengers, emigrants, or otherwise, the Health Officer may, if in his opinion it is desirable, with a view of preventing the introduction of any infectious or contagious disease, and on his certifying to that effect, subject persons on board to observation or to surveillance for such period as he may direct, not exceeding the period specified for the particular disease in question in paragraph (b) of Article five and may take such measures as he may think necessary for the disinfection of clothing and for the destruction of rats or other vermin on board of such ship.

Where a ship desires to go alongside of a jetty, wharf or quay and the Health Officer has reason to believe that such ship harbours rats or other vermin, he may, even in the absence of the conditions required to be certified to as aforesaid, take such measures as may be deemed expedient for the disinfection of clothing and articles likely to harbour fleas or other vermin and for the destruction of rats or other vermin on board of such ship.

12. Where measures of observation or surveillance are prescribed, the Health Officer may exempt from this application any person who is, in his opinion, immune to the infectious or contagious disease on account of which these measures are applied.

13. Where these Regulations provide that a person may be permitted to proceed to his place of destination subject to surveillance, the Health Officer, before granting such permission, must be satisfied that it is reasonably probable that the person to whom it is granted will duly comply with the conditions of surveillance, and permission, if granted, shall be upon the following conditions:—

(a.) He must satisfy the Health Officer as to his name, intended place of destination, and his place of residence thereat :

(b.) He must agree to present himself and shall present himself for medical supervision during the prescribed period, and he may be required by the Health Officer to deposit a sum not exceeding two guineas, which may be forfeited if he fail to so present himself :

(c.) The place must, in the opinion of the Health Officer, be conveniently situated for the medical supervision.

If the Health Officer is not satisfied as herein required, or if the person fails to comply with paragraphs (a) and (b) thereof, the Health Officer may detain him under observation, or direct him to proceed to a specified place and there remain under medical supervision during the prescribed period. In the latter case the provisions of paragraph (b) hereof may, at the discretion of the Health Officer, be applied to such person, provided always that in the case of smallpox, a person may be required to produce to the Health Officer satisfactory evidence of having been successfully vaccinated, or re-vaccinated within the ten years immediately preceding, or of his being otherwise immune to the disease, and that such persons may, in the absence of such evidence, be detained under observation for the prescribed period.

In the case of a healthy ship, the measure authorized by the foregoing proviso must not be applied to passengers who have not embarked or gone ashore at the infected place and it should not be applied to those passengers who embarked or went ashore at the infected place, if the circumstances of their stay there afford unreasonable evidence of non-infection.

[The form in the Appendix hereto may be used in cases under this Article.]

14. Merchandise shall be disinfected only when in the opinion of the Health Officer, it is infected : Provided always that, in the case of plague, cholera, and smallpox, clothing and bedding which have been used, and rags, may when imported from an infected place as merchandise, be subjected to disinfection even in the absence of evidence that they are infected, or their introduction into the Colony may be prohibited, except that in the case of cholera, rags compressed in bales, if in the opinion of the Health Officer they are free from infection, shall be subjected to the provisions of this Article. Provided further that in the case of yellow fever, merchandise shall under no circumstances be liable to disinfection or prohibition.

The measures specified in this Article are the only measures that can be applied in respect of merchandise.

The entry of live stock into any Colony shall not be prohibited because of the existence of an infectious or contagious disease in the place from whence they have come or on board the ship in which they are conveyed.

15. When merchandise has been subjected to disinfection in pursuance of provisions in these Regulations, the owner or his agent shall be entitled to a certificate from the Health Officer indicating the measures that have been taken.

16. Nothing in these Regulations shall render liable to detention, disinfection, or destruction any article forming part of any mail (other than a parcel mail) conveyed under the authority of the postal administration of any Government, or shall prejudicially affect the delivery in due course of any such mail (other than a parcel mail) to the Post Office.

The only measures which parcel mails may be subjected to shall be disinfection or destruction of articles which are in the opinion of the Health Officer infected.

17. When any port or place within the Colony is an infected place, measures shall be taken to prevent the embarkation at such port or any port within the Colony of any person showing symptoms of infectious or contagious disease. To this end, every person taking passage on a ship leaving such port, and every person from such infected place taking passage on board of a ship leaving any port in the Colony, shall be examined by the Health Officer immediately before departure of the vessel. Such examination shall, as far as practicable, be made by day and on shore. Measures shall be taken to prevent the exportation of merchandise or of articles or clothing belonging to any passenger which the Health Officer may consider infected, unless such merchandise or articles or clothing shall, in the first instance, have been disinfected on shore under his supervision. Measures shall also be taken to prevent rats in the case of plague, and mosquitoes in the case of yellow fever from gaining access to ships. When access of mosquitoes or rats to the ship cannot be prevented, measures shall be taken immediately before departure of the vessel to secure destruction of the mosquitoes or rats on board. In the case of cholera, care shall be exercised that drinking water taken on board is wholesome. The Health Officer shall give to the master of the ship a certificate stating in detail the measures taken.

18. When, in the case of a healthy ship from any port at which the measures specified in Article 17 are required to be taken, the Health Officer at the port of arrival is satisfied that the measures specified in that Article have been efficiently carried out, such ship shall be exempted from the measures specified in Article 7. Provided always that if the period specified in that Article, and dating from departure of the ship from such port, shall not have been completed, the passengers and crew may be subjected to surveillance of such duration as is necessary to complete the period.

19. When a case of non-imported plague has occurred in any port or place within the Colony, measures shall be taken at such port, or at any port within the Colony where the Health Officer thinks such measure should be applied, for a period of ten days from the isolation, death or recovery of such case to prevent the exportation of merchandise or of articles or clothing belonging to any passenger which the Health Officer may consider infected, unless such merchandise or articles or clothing shall, in the first instance, have been disinfected on shore under his supervision. Measures shall also be taken to prevent rats from gaining access to ships. When access of rats to the ship cannot be prevented, measures shall be taken immediately before the departure of the ship to secure destruction of the rats on board. The Health Officer shall give to the master of the ship a certificate stating in detail the measures taken.

20. No measures shall be taken against any ship merely because it has come from or called at any place where typhus fever, enteric fever, cerebro-spinal fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, measles, whooping cough, chicken-pox or dengue exists. If a case or cases of any of these diseases have occurred on board a ship before leaving the port of departure, during the voyage, or on arrival, the measures that may be applied shall be limited to isolation of the sick, disinfection of infected clothing, bedding and effects, and of the compartment of the vessel occupied by the sick, and surveillance of those who have been in contact with the sick person or persons.

[N.B.—These Regulations are printed with the alterations and modifications recommended by the Central Quarantine Authority at their Session held at Barbados in June, 1907, and June, 1908, and approved by the contracting Governments.]

WEST INDIAN AGRICULTURAL CONFERENCE.

16th June, 1911.

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication of the following Correspondence.

By Command,

CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

From the Governor to the Commissioner of Agriculture for the West Indies.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
GEORGETOWN, DEMERARA,
12th May, 1911.

SIR,

In reply to your letter of the 24th March, in which you state that as a time for holding the West Indian Agricultural Conference at British Guiana, the end of August and beginning of September would not be convenient to you or several others, and suggest that it be held in January, 1912, I have the honour to acquaint you that the matter has been under the careful consideration of the members of the General Committee. While most anxious to meet your wishes in this matter, they regret that they do not see their way to acquiesce in holding the Conference in January. In January which is usually a wet month in British Guiana the delegates—to quote the Honourable B. Howell Jones—“would see nothing of the manufacture of sugar as carried on in this colony and the larger portion of cane cultivation would be in the earliest stages of the growth.” Cane cultivation and sugar manufacture are not all that the delegates would wish to see but they form of course a very important item.

2. It has been suggested that you might find it possible under the circumstances to arrange for the Conference to be held in August-September and delegate one of your officers to represent the Imperial Department of Agriculture at it. Failing this arrangement I can only suggest that the next Conference be held in January elsewhere than in British Guiana when representatives from this colony will attend, and the opportunity could be taken of consulting you and the representatives from the other West Indian Colonies as to a time which would be mutually suitable for holding an Agricultural Conference in British Guiana on a subsequent occasion.

3. I regret that it has not been possible to reply to your letter at an earlier date.

I have, &c.,

F. M. HODGSON.

From the Commissioner of Agriculture for the West Indies to the Governor.

IMPERIAL DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
FOR THE WEST INDIES,

BARBADOS, MAY 25, 1911.

SIR,

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of Your Excellency's letter of May 12, 1911, having reference to the proposed West Indian Agricultural Conference.

2. I regret to find that the proposal to hold the Conference in British Guiana in January does not commend itself to Your Excellency and the General Committee appointed to deal with this matter, and I see no other course open to me than to acquiesce in the suggestion contained in the second paragraph of Your Excellency's letter, namely, that the next Conference be held in January elsewhere than in British Guiana. I beg also to endorse the wish at the same time expressed that representatives from British Guiana may attend that Conference and take the opportunity of consulting me and the representatives from the other West Indian Colonies as to a time which would be mutually suitable for holding an Agricultural Conference in British Guiana on a subsequent occasion.

3. I have to thank Your Excellency for all the efforts that have been made and the trouble that has been taken in the endeavour to arrange for this meeting in British Guiana: the difficulties connected with this have been very considerable, and I greatly regret we are unable to overcome them.

I have, &c.,

FRANCIS WATTS,
Commissioner of Agriculture for the West Indies.

SIMON.

The plaintiff claims a declaration that the house claimed is his property and also the said lease and that the gift should be declared invalid.

The lease is in defendant's name and the house on the land is shown to have been the same which defendant purchased for $115 and was removed from the land of one Gomes. It may have been added to and possibly plaintiff may have assisted in doing this.

The Court is satisfied that there was no donation of the house and plaintiff has failed to prove that the lease was made in his behalf in the name of the defendant.

This power is not conferred by the Lepers Ordinance, 1905.

A BILL ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE LEPERS ORDINANCE, 1905."

BE it enacted by the Governor of British Guiana, with the advice and consent of the Court of Policy thereof, as follows :—

1.—(1.) Whenever it appears to the Surgeon General that any inmate of the Leper Asylum, not being a prisoner under sentence of imprisonment, is a fit person to receive a conditional discharge, the Surgeon General shall certify the same to the Governor; and thereupon it shall and may be lawful for the Governor to direct that such inmate shall be allowed to absent himself from the Asylum for such period and under such conditions as the Governor may in his absolute discretion in each individual case determine. The Governor may at any time cancel the said permission or may vary the conditions under which same has been issued or may extend the period of such permission.

Provisional

L. C. DALTON,

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 21ST DAY OF JUNE, 1911.

GOVIA

versus

DA SILVA.

This is an application—made by the plaintiff in an action for breach of promise of marriage—by which she seeks to obtain further and better particulars as to certain allegations made by defendant in his statement of defence. The particulars asked for are (1) as to the way in which she was unchaste, (2) with whom she lived an immoral life and (3) who are the other persons with whom she was guilty of immodest conduct with their names and addresses, and the dates of such immodest conduct.

The principle on which the Court acts as to granting particulars is that each party is entitled to obtain a fair outline of his opponent's case, and where the applicant is in other respects entitled to the particulars asked for, it is not a valid objection that if the order be made, it will compel the party giving them to name his witnesses or disclose his evidence. The case for the plaintiff is that about February, 1910, defendant made her an offer of marriage which was accepted. The defence is that if this is so he did not know that she was unchaste and had been guilty of immodest conduct before that date.

As to immodest conduct subsequent to this date the defendant while admitting that he had had sexual intercourse with her states that she was guilty of immodest conduct with others at Beterverwagting and Triumph.

It is to be noticed that details are here given. The question is does this defence give to the plaintiff such a fair outline of the defendant's case as to prevent her being embarrassed? I think it does and that the plaintiff cannot be embarrassed thereby as she must know the truth or falsehood of these statements.

In Thomson vs. Birkley, (47 L.T. p. 700) referred to by counsel on both sides which was an action for seduction and in which the defendant sought particulars as to the times when, and the places where he was alleged to have seduced the plaintiff's daughter, the Court refused particulars unless the applicant filed an affidavit denying the seduction. As stated by Hawkins, J., no one knows better than the applicant the truth or falsehood of these matters. I am of opinion this case does not apply.

As to the point raised by counsel that plaintiff is a minor and the action is therefore improperly brought, the proper time for dealing with this question will be on the hearing of the action. Time for filing reply extended for 7 days. Application refused with cost.
